

UR Goals, Problems — Seven Steps Outlined

Editor's Note: The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency has been the subject of much criticism during its almost five years of existence. Officials of the agency feel that a great deal of that criticism comes from a lack of understanding by the public of the agency and its program. In this two-part Freeman series, agency officials present their side of the story through an interview report recently released.

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
Seven may be the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency's lucky number — the seven steps in an urban renewal program, beginning with planning and ending with new construction.

James G. Connors, executive director of the urban renewal agency, has outlined those seven steps in an effort to make the Kingston public more aware of the goals and the problems of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

"All over the country, and Kingston is no exception," Connors says, "urban renewal is extremely susceptible to delay . . . or what seems like delay compared to comparable privately financed developments. The federal urban renewal program involves seven separate major steps, each logistically dependent upon the others and the slightest delay in any step can have a log jamming effect, causing far more serious delays in the others."

Special

The seven steps are planning, acquisition of property, relocation of people and businesses, demolition, site improvements, sale of land for development and new construction. Connors terms the last step, new construction, the "public measure of progress."

"All of the prior steps, however, are mandatory in most cases, before new construction can take place," Connors said.

Connors went on to detail just what the agency has accomplished toward redevelopment since the program went into execution in January of 1965. As of Sept. 9, 1969 (the date of the report), $4,374,569 has been spent on the acquisition of property in the city's two projects:

A total of 489 families and individual householders have been relocated:

Ninety-three businesses have been relocated:

A total of $619,959 has been spent or is contracted for demolition:

Site improvement expenditures have totaled $1,342,000:

Thirty-five acres of land have been sold or are ready for sale to developers.

One hundred thirty-one public housing units are being constructed by the Kingston Housing Authority. The New York State Telephone Company and the Burrough's Corporation are occupying newly constructed buildings in the redevelopment area.

In addition, the agency has paid a total of $292,251 in taxes on property it owns in the city. That includes $194,834 in taxes to the city treasurer and $97,417 to the school district.

Connors, in his report, also touches briefly on financing of Kingston's urban renewal program. "For every dollar the city will spend, the state will spend a dollar and the federal government six dollars. In our case, Kingston's taxpayers have not had to put any cash into the project accounts since it was started," Connors said.

Connors also briefly discussed the problem of "labels" on the city's two urban renewal programs. "The urban development program in Kingston consists of two projects which have been variously labeled as Uptown, Downtown and Broadway East," he said. "These are merely titles, intended for convenience, but have had a serious side effect in terms of public opinion. They have sometimes resulted in a serious tug of war, a feeling that the program has favored Uptown vs. Downtown or the reverse. This feeling should not prevail. Urban redevelopment in Kingston is really a three-part program for all the people," he added.

Next, Connors reviews the agency's three-part program: residential, commercial and municipal redevelopment in both projects.

64 Battle Deaths Last Week

War Toll Lowest in 3 Years

SAIGON (UPI) — American battle deaths fell to their lowest level in almost three years last week—64 men killed—amid calls at home for a faster U.S. withdrawal from the war.

Military spokesmen said today the toll was the lowest in 34 months, or since the week that ended Dec. 3, 1966, when 34 GIs died in action. Nine hundred Americans were wounded last week.

In the sharpest flareup today,

North Vietnamese troops killed eight U.S. Marines and wounded 16 in a mortar and ground attack against the Marine camp south of the Demilitarized Zone this morning. Front reports said five of the attackers were killed.

Figures through Oct. 4 showed the GI death toll was running 34 per cent lower under President Nixon than under former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Communist and South Vietnamese losses fell last week, too—the government casualties to their lowest point in five months and the guerrilla deaths to their lowest point in 10 months.

Spokesmen said the South Vietnamese lost 209 killed and 681 wounded. Their losses since May have been consistently higher than U.S. casualties, reflecting their increasing combat role.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese lost 1,899 men dead last week, the announcement said—the lowest guerrilla toll since the week ending Dec. 23, 1968.

Aside from the Marine battle below the DMZ early today, headquarters reported light combat. Four other Marines died and two suffered wounds Wednesday when their tank hit a road mine near Da Nang.

Military spokesmen said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese shelled 11 towns and Allied camps and followed up with one ground attack, against South Vietnamese troops on the coast 325 miles northeast of Saigon.

As pressure mounted in Washington for further troop cutbacks in Vietnam, headquarters announced that the 500-man National Guard artillery battalion from Kentucky will

CHARGES — Senator Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) charged Wednesday he had found at least three more cases where Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. owned stock in a litigant company before his court, contrary to his sworn testimony. Bayh (right) is shown conferring, in a corridor, with Senator James Pearson (R-Kan.) Senate Unit Approves Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

Approval came on a vote of 10 to 6. Maryland Republican Charles McC. Mathias abstained.

A Judiciary Committee spokesman said Mathias wanted still more time to look into Haynsworth's record as a federal judge and into the financial dealings that have sparked major criticism of him.

Mathias took that position although Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said most of today's two-hour committee meeting was spent discussing Haynsworth's financial holdings, particularly his interest in a vending machine company.

Eastland said there was no discussion about when the nomination would come up on the Senate floor. Before the nomination can be officially reported to the Senate, minority and majority reports must be compiled within the committee and this could take several days.

The nomination still faces an uncertain future in the Senate. President Nixon, in the face of defections by two Republican Senate leaders, is continuing to stand by his nomination of Haynsworth.

A United Press International poll taken late Wednesday showed 38 senators would vote against the South Carolina federal appeals judge and 33 for him if the vote were taken now.

That left 29 senators uncommitted on the issue. Two of the four top Republican leaders now oppose Haynsworth.

A leading opponent of the appointment, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said in Chapel Hill, N.C., that only pressure from the White House and the Justice Department may have kept Haynsworth from requesting withdrawal of his nomination as an associate justice.

Despite defections by a significant bloc of Senate

Republicans, the White House insisted there was no withdrawal move in sight.

Agnew told a news conference in Dallas: "Every charge against him has been investigated and disproved. The charges are flimsy and contrived."

The Judiciary Committee had been scheduled to meet in closed session Wednesday but the session was called off shortly after Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., openly announced his opposition to Haynsworth.

A short while later, Sen.

Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, came out against the nomination.

The Griffin-Smith combo was a vital double defection for Nixon. Both senators are in the GOP leadership hierarchy—Griffin assistant floor leader and Mrs. Smith chairman of the Republican Conference.

But the White House, in what has become a twice daily ritual at its news briefings, insisted it was not backing down from full support of the Greenville, S.C., nominee, who is chief judge of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. There was little doubt, however, that messages of alarm that the nomination was in trouble were going from Capitol Hill to the White House.

At least 10 GOP senators are now committed to vote against Haynsworth, including Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, Charles E. Goodell of New York, Griffin, Jacob K. Javits of New York, Mrs. Smith and Ralph Smith of Illinois. Several other GOP senators have said privately they probably will vote against Haynsworth, and others are "leaning" in that direction.

Koenig Vows to Continue Reduction of City's Debt

KINGSTON
Terming the city's finances in "good, sound condition," Democrat-Liberal candidate for mayor, Francis R. Koenig, said today that his administration would continue those "excellent and constructive business practices" that have reduced the city debt by "well over a million dollars in the past three years."

Said Koenig, "If elected mayor of Kingston I shall continue to reduce the city's debt as far as is humanly possible."

Koenig said the total reduction of city debt in 1968 and 1969

Democrat - Liberal Koenig takes exception to Conservative Singer's views . . . Story Page 10.

was over $730,000. "It is estimated that a further reduction in the city debt of approximately $391,000 will be made in 1970. In other words, in three years the city's debt will have been reduced by well over a million dollars. I repeat, well over a million dollars."

Koenig stated that the city tax rate "right now" is the lowest it has been in ten years, while the county tax rate charged to city residents is close to double what it was ten years ago.

"At the present," Koenig said, "it is estimated that the 1970 portion of our tax bill, that is the city tax rate, will be reduced by at least eight dollars per thousand. However the total city tax bill will again depend on how much the county will increase or decrease county charges, which the city taxpayer is compelled to pay."

Koenig also cited two areas in the 1969 budget where the city saved interest charges by not borrowing money. He said $152,000 was appropriated in the budget for capital improvements instead of borrowing the money and that bond anticipation notes of $189,000 were not taken out, thus saving the taxpayers money on the interest.

In conclusion, Koenig said, "In any event, if as planned, we can reduce the city debt by $391,000 in 1970, Kingston again will have one of the lowest municipal indebtedness rates in the state of New York."

Tyrrell's No. 1 Goal — Stable Economy for City

KINGSTON
James J. Tyrrell, Republican candidate for mayor of Kingston, said today the top priority program of the Republican administration will be the enforcement of a stable economy for the residents of the city.

Tyrrell said, "The new administration must work to protect our overburdened taxpayer because our people cannot afford to pay our present day taxes."

The Republican candidate said he is most optimistic of a tax reduction in 1970. "The present administration is operating with a surplus and the surplus will be returned to the city taxpayer in the form of a tax reduction," he said.

Tyrrell charged that the present Administration has spent more of the taxpayer's money than any previous administration, and although costs have increased, the present budget has increased beyond proportion. Tyrrell said, "Government spending has increased $1,700,000 during the past four years, and my opponents have not commented on the increase. Last year government spending increased $700,000 over the previous year."

Tyrrell declared, "We must put an end to playing politics with the taxpayer's money. Taxes should not be allowed to go higher in a non-election year and lower in an election year."

He concluded, "What we need is economy in government spending and lower real property taxes. Several steps can be taken to accomplish this. They are:

Reduction of City debt; Avoid borrowing; Cut excessive government spending; The use of efficiency experts in drafting the City budget before presenting the budget for public hearing; The preparation of a line item budget reflecting the individual expenditures of each department; New properties added to the tax roll bringing additional taxes to the City."

Abel to Jim Tyrrell— 'Get the Facts Straight'

KINGSTON Sutton and Thomas Hricisak to transport the topsoil to the site on Ann and Mill Street. He submitted his vouchers to the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and they were returned. He then completed vouchers for both the City of Kingston and the Urban Renewal Agency in order that he could receive his money and pay the drivers. The vouchers were submitted on one date, even though the orders had been made on three different occasions: first on the 26th of May, again on the 14th of June and finally on July 5th.

"Due to the fact that Mr. Quigley was working in Sullivan County, he asked me to find out where the vouchers should be submitted. I spoke with Urban Renewal and the City Clerk and delivered the vouchers to Thomas Lyle, the City Clerk."

"You have implicated illegal payment of these vouchers and have brought my name into the picture. As I have explained, my only connection with Wainscott Sand Corporation was the original negotiations, 10 months ago, when they paid me for the right to withdraw material from my property."

"If you are to assume the role of defender of the people, Mr. Tyrrell, I would suggest that you get your facts straight. Your allegations and innuendos are hollow. In your career, both as a broadcaster and as a politician, you have taken it upon yourself to slur the names of everyone from members of my family to Babe Ruth. What have you ever done for Kingston?"

"Mr. Tyrrell, if you had been born and raised in our community as I have, and if you knew it is my understanding that first, on the 26th of May, again on the 14th of June and once again on the 5th of July, officials of the City of Kingston, on behalf of the Urban Renewal Agency, negotiated with James Quigley of the Wainscott Sand Corporation for deliveries of top soil, which he drew from my bank as per our agreement in January, 1969. The soil, as you know, was for a ballfield in the Urban Renewal area, a most worthwhile project," Garraghan said.

"Mr. Quigley informed me that he contracted with Herbert

Mayor Reviews Field Data

KINGSTON Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today reviewed some of the background of the construction of a baseball field on Ann Street in the urban renewal area that has led to the so-called Wainscott controversy regarding city purchasing procedures.

Garraghan said, "As a memo to the public I would like them to know the area where the 'Softball Field' was constructed. It is a plot of ground bounded by Ann Street, Chamber Street and Mill Street, in the downtown Urban Renewal area."

"In the latter part of May, I met Ed Parker and he told me that at an urban renewal agency meeting on May 15 a motion was passed unanimously, to construct a softball field in the Urban Renewal area. I contacted Jim Connors, director of the Agency, who asked me if the city would cooperate and grade the area when the topsoil was delivered. My answer was, 'full cooperation' as it would help me fulfill my promise to the boys of the area," Garraghan said.

"Within the next week I saw piles of topsoil and asked Charles Cole of the Board of Public Works for a grader. His reply was, in ten days. I like to get things done so I spoke to Mike Pugliese of Berardi Construction Co. about grading it. Mike spoke to Gene and Jim Berardi and it was graded immediately at no cost to the city or Urban Renewal Agency."

"Urban Renewal Agency paid for every penny of the construction of the field. The City Recreation Department built a backstop, as it was a good program for the youth of the area."

"You are going to be presented with a lot more ghosts and goblins before Halloween, so cheer up, the press, radio and television programs will be good after Election Day and we can get ready for a good Thanksgiving Day football game in the stadium and a family dinner," Garraghan concluded.

do, and as in every small community across the country, you would know as I do that one has many inter-relationships with people and wears many hats to get a job done.

"I would gladly listen to criticism from any man who came into our community and got involved and showed faith in its future with other than words, but what have you done?"

"Aside from your personal problems which have been greatly publicized in the news media and by word of mouth, I can find little that you have done. As far as I am concerned, the matter is closed," Garraghan concluded.

It specifically states that all future requests for equipment and expendable supplies from county departments be requested through the county auditor and purchasing agent by departmental heads.

It also asks that purchases of the equipment and expendable supplies be purchased only on approval of the county auditor's committee.

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON A postal room for the County Office Building to process all mail emanating from the six-story facility will be proposed to the Ulster County Legislature at its regular monthly meeting tonight by E. Stirling Potter (R-District 7) in behalf of the Operational Efficiency Committee.

The resolution points out that the various offices and departments of the County of Ulster located in the Ulster County Office Building expend considerable amounts of public funds annually on postage.

The committee therefore suggests that "it would seem to be in the best interest of efficiency to have all postage handled by one department."

It also suggests that all postage and mailing be budgeted for by the county auditor and purchasing agent and that postage machines be acquired as well as space in the building to process the mail.

Upon learning of the proposal some county employees have raised two questions. Where will the space be found in the already crowded building? Will the system create more bookkeeping in view of the fact that certain departments are reimbursed for postage while others are not. Postage items are now included in the line item budgets of each department. Under the new system, the auditor would include them in his department budget.

A second resolution proposed by the same committee, with Potter acting in its behalf, asks that a centralized purchasing department be established in the office of the county auditor and purchasing agent.

Candidates To Address The Police

KINGSTON

The three candidates for mayor of Kingston, James J. Tyrrell, the Republican, Francis R. Koenig, the Democrat, Liberal and Bernard Singer, the Conservative, will address members of the Kingston Patrolman's Association tonight in the city courtroom.

Meyer Levy, president of the KPA, said that each candidate would be given a maximum of 30 minutes to express his views on the police department and what his policies will be in regards to that department if elected.

Members of the KPA will be given the opportunity to ask a question of the candidates after their formal presentations.

Bonilla Critical

WOODSTOCK John Bonilla, Woodstock Democratic candidate for County Legislator, District 12, today criticized the Republican-dominated County Legislature for "abject failure to recognize the long-standing problem of inequalities in tax assessments in Ulster County."

"That inequalities exist has most recently been demonstrated by events in Woodstock," Bonilla continued.

"Fifty-one taxpayers petitioned the Board of Assessors for a reduction based on statistics they had compiled by a professional assessor. These statistics show an average town assessment of Seven per cent rather than the 13 per cent established by the State Equalization Board. The Woodstock assessors, after consulting an attorney, decided not to contest the petitions and gave them a 35 per cent reduction.

Bonilla also cited statistics used by Douglas Dye, Republican majority leader in his primary campaign. "Dye admitted that over 75 per cent of the taxpayers in the Town of Ulster are overassessed, as well as 57 per cent in Hurley, and 55 per cent in Marlinton," he said.

"Yet the Republican majority, including our Woodstock legislator, has turned down every effort to authorize a tax map for Ulster County, the first step required in equalizing tax assessments."

"This callous indifference to the needs of Ulster County taxpayers must be changed," Bonilla added. "No one minds paying taxes," he said, "as long as he knows that every one else is paying his share also."

The SDS-Che Guevara Tribute Triggers Violence in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Radicals honoring the memory of Che Guevara marched out of Lincoln Park and into a face-off with police Wednesday night. A cloud of gas sent them running through the near North Side where they smashed windows in homes and businesses and stoned autos.

Three persons among 19 injured were wounded by gunfire. At least 66 persons were arrested, 19 of them women and one of them a newspaper photographer. Most of the injured were police.

The violence came after a rally held in Lincoln Park by the "Weatherman" faction of the Students for a Democratic Society. The rally was to honor Guevara, the Latin American revolutionary who died in Bolivia after Cuba got too tame for him.

Wednesday was the second anniversary of Guevara's execution in Bolivia. The crowd of 600 to 800 persons—some wearing helmets and carrying clubs, chains and stones — was stopped from reaching the home of U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman, who is hearing the trial of the "conspiracy" eight persons charged with inciting riots during the Democratic National Convention in 1968.

Police stopped them from progressing southward, but the militants coursed through the near North Side and Old Town areas, smashing hundreds of windows, stoning autos and fighting police with chains. After the violence, a small number of young persons filtered back into the park early today, sitting around a fire made of park benches, "rapping" and drinking beer. When police asked them to leave, they said "okay" and left.

The three persons wounded by gunfire were identified as Marshal Birson, 22, of Connecticut; Elizabeth Gardner, 26, Seattle, Wash.; and John Vanvendall, 22, who would not give his address. One of the 10 injured policemen suffered a broken back, police said.

Park benches were torn up shortly after the rally began at 7 p.m. Wednesday and temperatures fell into the 50s in the lake front park. As the crowd swelled to an estimated 600 to 800, signs saying "Viva Che" and "Fascist pig Daley, free the Panthers now" were seen—the latter a reference to Mayor Richard J. Daley and recent shootouts with police at Black Panther party headquarters here.

They vowed to stay in the park past the 11 p.m. closing time. Police said the park curfew would be enforced.

Gets Guns, Take to Streets Agent Quotes Panther Boss

CHICAGO (UPI)—A police undercover agent says Black Panther leader Bobby Seale urged protesters to "buy .357 magnums, .45 caliber pistols and carbines and take to the street" during the Democratic National Convention.

Robert Pierson, who said he served as bodyguard for two protest leaders, testified Wednesday at the trial of eight persons charged with conspiring to incite the riots during the 1968 convention.

Pierson said he attended a rally Tuesday of convention week and listened to speeches by Seale and Yippie leader Jerry Rubin.

"The time for singing is past," Pierson quoted Seale. "It is time to buy .357 magnums, .45 caliber pistols and carbines and take to the streets."

Earlier Wednesday, as Pierson testified about Rubin's activities, Seale jumped from his seat at the mention of his name.

"I object to my name being used on the grounds that my lawyer isn't here," Seale said.

Seale and other defendants contend the trial should be postponed until the chief defense attorney, Charles R. Garry of San Francisco, recovers from an illness and is able to attend. U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman has denied repeated defense requests for a delay.

Defense attorney William Kunstler directed a series of questions to Pierson regarding the latter's mental competence. Prosecution objections to most of the queries were sustained, however, and most went unanswered.

Pierson also testified he heard Rubin tell demonstrators to "kill the pigs," set fires in the Loop and Old Town areas and "up the pigs and the convention."

Rubin was released from jail Wednesday after serving a sentence for a California peace disturbance conviction.

Kickbacks Charged

Probe Shifts to Stars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate probe that has caused a general and a sergeant to be stripped of top medals is focusing on charges entertainers were forced to pay kickbacks in order to appear at music clubs in Vietnam.

June Collins, booking agent who packages shows for the Army's club system in Vietnam, was called today to tell the Senate's investigators subcommittee about charges that extra fees were charged entertainers by sergeants who managed the facilities.

The allegation that kickbacks were the admission fee to the huge club system was made last month by Ruben Noel, a singer and comedian who has played the Vietnam troop circuit.

Noel had said performers had to kickback $50 or 10 per cent of their fees.

He quoted one sergeant as telling him: "You're going to face some miserable club custodians who are going to ask you for kickbacks on shows. I know this is going on and there's not a damn thing I can do about it."

In Wednesday's testimony, senators were led through a maze of financial transactions by the Maremed Corp., a firm a committee investigator said was formed by sergeants from illicit profits made in Germany. Maremed was also the vehicle for squeezing more money from clubs the sergeants then were running in Vietnam, the investigator charged.

In a separate development, the Army said Wednesday it had revoked its award of the Distinguished Service Medal to Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner. The former provost marshal is accused of posing his post for personal profit and to protect the alleged leader of a "little Mafia" of top enlisted men—Sgt. Maj. William O. Wooldridge.

Last month the Army yanked the Distinguished Service Medal it had bestowed on Wooldridge, the first soldier ever appointed sergeant major of the Army, that service's highest and most sensitive enlisted post.

The Army's action against Turner, who now is retired, came shortly after Chicago police superintendent James Conlish said the general lied when he testified Chicago police gave him 396 confiscated weapons for his own use.

Conlish said Turner told him he wanted the guns for Army training and museum display and had signed receipts stating they would be destroyed when no longer of use to the Army.

Turner has admitted he sold "the cream of the crop" of the small arsenal to a gun dealer, kept the money and did not mention it in his regular 1968 income tax return.

Wednesday, Carmine Bellino, an accountant, said Wooldridge owned 14.1 per cent of the Maremed Corp. He said the other principal owners were sergeants and former sergeants—all of whom had run club systems in Augsburg, Germany; Ft. Benning, Ga.; and Vietnam.

The firm was founded in 1967 and did 87 per cent of its $1.2 million first-year business with three club systems in Vietnam run by three of the firm's own founders, Bellino said.

He said other business firms selling goods to the clubs were put on notice they would receive no orders at all if they did not deal through Maremed.

"Here we find a company formed by four master sergeants who have been transferred from Augsburg to Benning to Vietnam—wherever the action was," said Chairman Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

"They deal with themselves, pay themselves and rake in the profit for themselves."

Kickbacks were also a part of the business, Bellino said.

He said that because he is an accountant and not an Army law expert, he did not know whether alleged irregularities and violations of Army regulations could be prosecuted.

The SDS-Che Guevara Tribute Triggers Violence in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Radicals honoring the memory of Che Guevara marched out of Lincoln Park and into a face-off with police Wednesday night. A cloud of gas sent them running through the near North Side where they smashed windows in homes and businesses and stoned autos.

Three persons among 19 injured were wounded by gunfire. At least 66 persons were arrested, 19 of them women and one of them a newspaper photographer. Most of the injured were police.

The violence came after a rally held in Lincoln Park by the "Weatherman" faction of the Students for a Democratic Society. The rally was to honor Guevara, the Latin American revolutionary who died in Bolivia after Cuba got too tame for him.

Wednesday was the second anniversary of Guevara's execution in Bolivia.

The crowd of 600 to 800

persons—some wearing helmets and carrying clubs, chains and stones — was stopped from reaching the home of U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman, who is hearing the trial of the "conspiracy" eight persons charged with inciting riots during the Democratic National Convention in 1968.

Police stopped them from progressing southward, but the militants coursed through the near North Side and Old Town areas, smashing hundreds of windows, stoning autos and fighting police with chains. After the violence, a small number of young persons filtered back into the park early today, sitting around a fire made of park benches, "rapping" and drinking beer. When police asked them to leave, they said "okay" and left.

The three persons wounded by gunfire were identified as Marshal Birson, 22, of Connecticut; Elizabeth Gardner, 26, Seattle, Wash.; and John Vanvendall, 22, who would not give his address. One of the 10 injured policemen suffered a broken back, police said.

Park benches were torn up shortly after the rally began at 7 p.m. Wednesday and temperatures fell into the 50s in the lake front park. As the crowd swelled to an estimated 600 to 800, signs saying "Viva Che" and "Fascist pig Daley, free the Panthers now" were seen—the latter a reference to Mayor Richard J. Daley and recent shootouts with police at Black Panther party headquarters here.

They vowed to stay in the park past the 11 p.m. closing time. Police said the park curfew would be enforced.

Drastic Restrictions

Two deaths from narcotics. Seven hundred ninety-seven treated for drug abuses. Five thousand one hundred sixty-two given medical aid. Eight incomplete or complete abortions and 12 threatened abortions. These statistics are but a partial list of the casualties at the Woodstock Music and Art Festival at Bethel, N.Y., as reported by the State Health Department.

Other problems noted by New York State Health Commissioner Hollis Ingraham were lack of water and partly contaminated supply and overtaxed sewage system.

These facts reveal the complete lack of responsibility upon the part of the promoters and sponsors of this venture. The whole affair could easily have been turned into a ghastly tragedy.

The conclusion reached by the health authorities was that health and safety facilities were adequate for 50,000 but not the hundreds of thousands who attended.

The bizarre fame resulting from this happening would most certainly attract the drug pushers for another such "festival" of permissiveness and excesses.

The authorities should make sure that such a nightmare isn't repeated there or elsewhere by placing drastic restrictions on such stagings.

The Fairest Media

College students are harsh critics of communications media. They judge them on the matters that concern them most—campus unrest, demonstrations and riots, civil rights and racial and slum problems, and Vietnam.

Accepting the students' own criteria as the basis of the tests, a committee of the Associated Press Editors Association made a survey on student assessment of competing media's fairness and unfairness in reporting the news.

Students interviewed rated as fairest—newspapers with 53.5 per cent; television with 21.2 per cent; news magazines 13.1 per cent; and radio with 12.2 per cent.

On accuracy, the score was: newspapers 35.8 per cent; news magazines 32.1 per cent; television news 25.5 per cent and radio news 6.6 per cent.

The distinction between fairest and most accurate is interesting. Apparently, the students did not equate the two. They felt that newspapers were fairest and most accurate but accuracy was rated considerably below fairness.

The important thing is that college students, who have been in the center of controversy and strife for a number of years, find newspapers the fairest and most accurate news media reporting matters of uppermost interest to them. This is a verdict which newspapers should greet with pride and satisfaction.

All we can say, newspapers produce under tremendous pressure yet try hard for accuracy and fairness. The results of surveys like this make the effort well worth while.

A call for a student strike at the University of Michigan fell flat. Even the number of pickets dwindled by early afternoon from 200 to 50. The spirit of the majority was voiced by a journalism student who told a militant who tried to speak, "Would you please hold your demonstration outside? I'm in class."

Saying there is room for dissent but not for disruption, George Washington University President Lloyd H. Elliott told returning students. He warned that any campus disruption or violation of rights of others will be swiftly dealt with. He is one of the growing number of academic heads who are taking steps to prevent violence on campus this fall. Contingency plans may prevent later disruptions.

BERRY'S WORLD

First in Line

David Lawrence Says Congress' Inaction Could Cause Economic Upset

WASHINGTON — Democrats are blaming Republicans, and Republicans are blaming Democrats for the lack of action by Congress. The real responsibility, however, rests with the electorate in America which chooses a president of the United States from one political party and gives control of Congress to the opposite party. This has happened a few times in history but the injurious consequences were never more conspicuous than they are today.

President Nixon has presented a long list of legislative proposals to Congress. More than 40 are currently pending in Congress, awaiting final action.

The federal budget, for instance, is presented in January — nearly six months before the new fiscal year begins on July 1. But at present — three months after the start of the 1970 fiscal year — only one regular appropriation bill has reached the White House for signature. Representative Gerald Ford of Michigan, Republican leader in the House, calls it the "poorest record" in the history of Congress, and declares that "something has to be done."

Meanwhile, the country is being told that Mr. Nixon is fumbling the ball and isn't exercising "leadership." But it so happens that Mr. Nixon will not be running for reelection until nearly three years from now, whereas the entire membership of the House is up for election 13 months hence, along with one-third of the Senate. The American people, therefore, will find it natural to focus next year on what Congress has or has not done.

Perhaps one of the reasons the Democratic party has been accused of being "dilatatory" and of "dragging its feet" is that it has developed factional differences. It will be recalled, for example, that former Governor George Wallace of Alabama polled nearly ten million votes the last election and received support from citizens, in both parties, much of which, surprisingly, was in the northern states.

A lot of criticism has been directed at President Nixon's course since his inauguration last January. He has been accused of failing to take a positive stand on many questions and of tolerating a divided cabinet on certain policies. But Mr. Nixon recognizes the political implications involved in current issues, such as the Vietnam War, the high cost of living, and the racial troubles that have swept the country.

The political significance of the debate on the Vietnam War is not yet clear. It could turn out that the members of Congress who have been advocating a complete pullout from Vietnam will find themselves a year from now charged with having actually prolonged the war by giving the impression that America was really intending to surrender.

The President is proceeding cautiously and trying to avoid a break with his supporters in Congress, some of whom, incidentally, are Democrats. Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana, who is the Democratic Majority Leader in the Senate, is exhorting the critics to be patient. He says: "There is enough blame to go around on both sides and enough credit to go around on both sides."

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, in a speech this week, lamented the fact that Congress has failed to act on the administration's anti-crime program. He said that each day's delay "means that more innocent persons will lose their lives and property."

Among the complex measures that are pending, the "tax reform" bill is stirring up considerable controversy.

The executive branch of the government has been trying to stabilize the economy primarily through federal reserve board action in pushing up interest rates and cutting down spending, but now, as there are reports of a sizeable increase in the amount of unemployment, questions are being asked as to whether the efforts to stop inflation could precipitate an economic crisis. A better way, of course, would be to reduce inflation slowly and permit both labor and management to adjust wages and prices over a period of time.

If both Houses dillydally on needed legislation, the nation could face an economic upset and a substantial rise in unemployment. This might hurt the Democratic party far more in 1970 than the Republicans. It is apparent that President Nixon and the Republican leaders are getting ready to place the blame on the Democrats for failure to support important programs and especially for delays that have prevented the country from achieving economic stability.

Soviet Now Fears Inextricable Involvement in Mideast Crisis

By LEON DENNEN
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA) — In the Middle East as in Vietnam there is no shortcut to peace since it takes two sides to agree to a settlement. But there is at least a glimmer of hope for "diplomatic alternatives" to military confrontation in the conflict between the Arabs and Israel.

Ironically, President Nixon's cautious and low-key diplomacy is beginning to show results in one strife-torn area even as the "doves" in and out of the Senate are escalating their attacks on his pragmatic foreign policy.

U.S. and Soviet negotiators still have to grope their way through a variety of bargaining moves before agreeing to a "package deal" that would be acceptable to the Arabs and Israel.

However, it is increasingly clear that public statements by the Russians and the Americans are no longer a reliable guide to the negotiations that are unfolding behind the scenes.

The Russians, including Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, are as tough as ever in their public declarations.

But Israel's air and commando raids on Egypt's Gulf of Suez coast seem to have confirmed the view long held by Soviet military strategists that the Arabs' "war of attrition" is a dangerous illusion.

According to East European diplomats, the Kremlin's "hawks" and "doves" alike fear that the Mideast might become a military and economic albatross for Russia like Vietnam is for the United States.

Presumably, this is why the Russians are more cooperative and conciliatory in their secret negotiations with American diplomats than they are in their official statements.

The Arabs and Israel also have become more pragmatic in their search for a settlement.

Egypt's Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad admitted that some Arab states and Israel were already engaged in "indirect" talks. He also hinted at the U.N. that Egypt might agree to more direct negotiations of the type Israel and the Arabs engaged on the island of Rhodes in 1948.

Only this time U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring would act as intermediary between the Israeli and Arab delegations sitting in the same building but in different offices — a mission performed with skill by Ralph Bunche in 1948-49.

"We are doing here exactly the same thing as we did at Rhodes," Egypt's foreign minister said.

What he failed to mention was that there were also direct Arab-Israeli talks at Rhodes which led to the agreement which ended the fighting following the partition of Palestine.

As was expected, Cairo immediately denied there could ever be direct negotiations with Israel. But this denial was obviously made to appease Arab extremists.

President Nasser's Russian sponsors seem aware that he is willing to enter into a peaceful settlement if one can be devised by the United States and Russia that would not cost him his political life.

Equally significant is Israel's new flexibility on the crucial question of territories lost by the Arabs in the 1967 six-day war.

The Israelis continue to press for a settlement through direct negotiations with the Arab states. But Premier Golda Meir is reported to have told Nixon that Israel would be willing to start out with the "Rhodes formula" of separate office mediation.

There is thus a glimmer of hope for peace between the Arabs and Israel.

Jack Anderson Says Russian Navy Is Beginning To Dominate the Seven Seas

WASHINGTON — Off the Atlantic Coast, where the continental shelf ends and the ocean floor abruptly plunges, the waters are not quiet. U.S. Navy prowlers steam on set courses, and aboard them, trained men sit in soundproof rooms and wait for their listening devices to pick up messages from the deep.

The answer, a chattering pattern of pings, comes with omnibus regularity. Everywhere on the seven seas — the waters we so confidently dominated for six decades — our Navy can locate sleek, nuclear-powered Soviet submarines.

From the noise characteristics of the lurking subs, flashed to a U.S. naval base and run through a computer, we are able to identify each sub. The game of hide-and-seek is relentless but professionally calm. Upon occasion, an American destroyer will play a recording of the "Volga Boatman" on the sound system for the benefit of the Russians beneath the waters.

In the 25 years since World War II, the Russians have constructed a first-class navy. Not only under the seas but on the surface, their fleet is now a match for the proud U.S. fleet. Cruisers, destroyers and helicopter carriers cruise the major waterways of the world, flying the hammer and sickle from their masts.

It doesn't take an electronics expert to read the message: Russia is staking a claim to preeminence on the high seas.

Russian Maneuvers

In late August, 63 Soviet vessels — the biggest Red fleet ever assembled outside home waters — began maneuvers near the coast of Israel. About the same time, the Russian navy boldly steamed down the East Coast of the United States, and Soviet sailors took their first shore leave in the arms of the warm-eyed girls of Havana. The Castro brothers, Fidel and Raul, posed happily in their rumpled green fatigues with the Russians in their starched white uniforms.

In the Aegean sea, where the Russian have found the green waters of Homer's heroes a favorite spot for maneuvers, Greece's antique navy has difficulty keeping watch on prowling Soviet subs. Yet NATO depends upon the Greeks to patrol this corner of the oceans.

Russian ships have also moved into the Indian Ocean to take the place of the British, who withdrew in the name of economy. An American naval visit to India, scheduled as an attempt to succeed the British, had to be called off because of the demands of the Vietnam war.

At Port Said, the northern terminus of the Suez Canal, Russian ships are constantly on station to boost the morale of their Arab allies. Soviet ships also make regular ports of call at Alexandria, Egypt, and at Latakia and Tartus, Syria. The Russians are even negotiating to take over the British naval base on the Mediterranean island of Malta.

Soviet gains on the seas, however, can be attributed as much to our failings as to their achievements. For while Russia has hoisted its ensign around the world, the U.S. Navy has suffered a series of practical and political disasters.

U.S. Naval Goofs

More than 70 have been documented, ranging from the loss of the nuclear submarines Thresher and Scorpion to the disastrous accidents aboard the carriers Forrestal and Enterprise. The latest: the destroyer Frank E. Evans was sliced in two by an Australian carrier during exercises in the South China Sea with the loss of 73 U.S. seamen. A naval inquiry placed the primary blame upon the American ship.

The admirals have treated their men almost as badly as their ships. In 1967, Lt. Cmdr. Marc Arnheiter, because of his aggressiveness in crew members aboard the picket ship Vance. He was given a hasty summary dismissal. Capt. Richard Alexander, commander of the battleship New Jersey, felt Arnheiter had received a raw deal. He put his career on the line and protested to the Secretary of the Navy. Although one of the Navy's most promising officers, Alexander was immediately transferred to a desk job in the Boston Navy Yard.

Through decades of gunboat diplomacy, two world wars and a host of small crises, the Navy's reputation went virtually unblemished. Now, however, with the Russians challenging us for supremacy on the oceans, there is strong evidence of dry rot in the Navy's timbers.

Leadership Crisis

To scrape away the barnacles and find out what is really wrong with the Navy, this column talked to Navy personnel of all ranks. Their general answer: The Navy is suffering from a leadership crisis.

Desk-bound admirals at the Pentagon have put loyalty to each other above loyalty to the Navy and the nation. Many of them still live in the era of battleships, and follow the rules of the Admirals' Club, a closed clique of senior officers who band together to keep their gold braid untarnished.

Young officers who challenge the establishment are frowned upon, and imaginative thinking is suppressed. There is no forgiveness for those who buck the system. Result: Junior officers are leaving the service as soon as their basic commitment expires.

The situation recently became so critical among the submarine corps that the Navy was compelled to offer a $15,000 bonus to young officers who would agree to stay for an additional tour.

While young officers are leaving the service, however, the old admirals are demanding more aircraft carriers — a throwback to the glory days of a quarter century ago.

That is the measure of the difference between the Russian navy and ours. The Soviet navy is a new one. The U.S. Navy, though more experienced, is burdened with old men, old concepts and old techniques. The weight of years is threatening a proud tradition.

Henry J. Taylor Says Education and Self-Discipline

Six Swedish students, two of them girls, and an 18-month-old baby are sailing for the United States in a 76-year-old fishing boat without a skipper. The group hopes to cross the Atlantic via Portugal, the Canary Islands and perhaps the West Indies.

Bo Lissbrandt, 25, said the vessel has no captain because it is being run on student lines, with all hands equal.

Don't laugh at Bo; oh, no. This splendid idea, in the name of democracy, is now making its bid in our universities. And an assortment of muddled-headed trustees and faculty members need to clarify their thinking about it as badly as Bo, and with even less justification for their muddledheadedness.

Either they know the idea is upside down, or they don't because they are upside down with it. Webster defines democracy, of course, as "rule of the majority." But, applied to universities, the prospect is so self-defeating, tragic and dangerous — as self-defeating, tragic and dangerous as Bo's boat — that the outlook becomes simply appalling.

We are in a neck-and-neck race between education and disaster. This is no time to substitute slogans for judgement and phrases for deeds.

PIXIES by Wohl

Our youth (as always) is the hope of our country. There is never any other hope. But the perpetual undergraduates who follow a life of drift and words cannot save our country. They must enlighten themselves, control themselves, ennoble themselves — and then they can save our country.

The most dense and consequential thing our youth has to fight is not the universities, the older generation, "The Establishment," or anything else. It is inside the quarter-inch of skull around their heads. This place is a home of many misconceptions. One of these is that education can be achieved without discipline and the achievement of self-discipline.

This includes the convenient contention that "bad regulations" in a university, along with "bad laws" in the nation, ought to be broken, and that the violator should decide which laws are bad. But is the dissenting student or any other citizen who wants to call a law "bad" entitled to live by his own views? If so, by what authority? The name for this is anarchy. I do not know what goes on in their heads, but certainly it is not thinking. And, as for academic officials who permit this, we have done an utterly unwholesome job in educating our educators.

What should be remembered about education and its institutions is the primary meaning of the word "education." It means to "draw out." Teaching is a profession — a highly specialized and often frustrating profession that requires long training. It is not a popularity contest, nor is it a proper university democratic machine.

This is not its legitimate administrative purpose, nor is it a desirable or workable goal. It is not a design for education: it is a doodle, equivalent to the skipperless Swedish students pushing off into the Atlantic. And, incidentally, October is usually a month of storms.

Certainly, nothing should be left undone to nurture, encourage and vitalize administrative faculty-student communications. Great improvements — badly needed — are possible in this area. But administrative enlightenment is one thing; authority is another.

Nothing works without management. The duty of management is to manage. In organizations you find good management. You also find bad management is undeniable. Moreover, to call student crimes in our universities a mere attempt to give a message to American education and the public is like saying that a stick-up is just a gunman's method of calling attention to his financial condition.

In Greece the same fine people who invented democracy have often shown an affinity for another Lykabbetan perennial — namely, chaos. In the case of a university, that chaos is certain. Education is not a weed that will grow on any soil. It is a delicate crop that can easily wilt and degenerate unless properly administered. And if ill-administered it is the students themselves who suffer most — just as the six Swedish students and their cargo baby are the true victims in their own disastrous idea.

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

Oct. 10, 1949 — Registration in Kingston the first two days this year brought out 5,396 voters and was 811 ahead of the two-day totals in 1947.

Indian Summer — the Weather Bureau said this is it — arrived in the area over the weekend with a touch of the warmth of last July and August.

Oct. 9, 1959 — Ulster County's two-way radio system will be in full operation within two weeks. Supervisor W. Morton Bertrand, chairman of the Board of Supervisors' committee reports today.

A motion by Supervisor Michael W. Melnick, D-6th Ward calling on the Board of Supervisors to purchase either the former Homeseekers Savings and Loan building on lower Broadway or the Cornell Building at 22 Ferry Street provoked a verbal tornado Thursday night and sent the board meeting into confusion and disorder.

Cablevision and Poles

Editor, The Freeman

In Sawkill and other adjacent townships to Woodstock, Cablevision has been erecting its own utility poles even though the areas are saturated with existing telephone poles to which Cablevision easily could have hooked up their lines.

When this was brought to the attention of Mr. Milton Houst, Town Supervisor of Woodstock, the record showed that on December 30, 1962, the Woodstock Town Board, with foresight, had passed a resolution to the effect that Cablevision would be permitted to attach its lines only "... to the existing utility poles ..."

We wish to thank Mr. Houst for causing a letter to be sent promptly to Kingston Cablevision as a reminder of that resolution so that there would be no misunderstanding on the part of Cablevision as to the use of their own utility poles in any of the hamlets that comprise Woodstock.

Sincerely yours,

Facilities for Young People

Editor, The Freeman

Open letter to the Town of Esopus Town Board:

Our young people need a safe, supervised place to operate their minibikes, and there is another group a little older who should have a parallel opportunity for testing their cars and drag-racing.

I understand some hasty piece of legislation was passed through our Town Board some years ago, that short-sightedly overlooked the fact that without suitable facilities some of these young people are tempted and, in fact, do use the public roads for drag-racing and mini-bike racing. Furthermore, there are some children well below the age requirements for driver's license who are operating minibikes and zig-zagging across the roadways and in areas where children play, establishing an obvious hazard.

I have met with a group of people from my area, and, being unable so far to find any suitable location, request that the Town Board give this serious consideration. Perhaps sites for these activities can be investigated and a suitable ordinance regulating these activities be enacted.

Let us recognize that the safety of our children and adults is concerned and that these kids need a reasonable outlet. You may remember the cremation on the highway on Route 213 where one person was demonstrating how fast his car would go. Are you for or against the cremation on the highways?

Sincerely yours,

Postal Service

Editor, The Freeman

I write this letter to you and to the general public in hopes that a better understanding might be had of the services rendered to them thru the Postal Service.

Does the public realize the number of pieces of mail handled each year, this year alone, 89 million pieces, and this is accomplished by a work force of approximately 680,000, of which approximately 60% are the personnel which actually sort and deliver the letters, packages, and newspapers, advertising, etc.?

Does the public realize that on entering the postal service there is no definite guarantee of the hours you will be working? It could be 46 hours this week, and perhaps 24 hours the next week.

Does the public realize that until four years ago, the postal employee did not receive overtime pay for working over 40 hours per week? He was paid straight time for all hours worked.

Does the public realize that on national holidays and Sundays, even tho there is not a delivery of mail, a work force is in the post office working the mails for delivery the next day?

Does the public realize that employees come to work at many different hours of the day to work and dispatch the mails?

I have also found that the biggest complaint of the public is in regards to the circulars and letters they receive from advertising firms. Do they realize the time and effort spent by representatives of these concerns in Washington to keep the lower rates in effect? This type of mailings I feel provide jobs, and also extend to the public a service of letting them know of money saving opportunities today. I do feel they could be paying their way to a better degree.

Last but not least, the public has had increases in postal rates. Nevertheless I know of no other product purchased by the public, but what has also cost more to purchase.

Does the public realize that the Post Office Dept. is one of the very few Federal Agencies that dispenses a product, that brings in revenue to help pay their way and assist in paying some of the other expenses of operating this great country of ours?

So I say Mr. and Mrs. Public, for the Postal Employees' benefit, lets dig out the old saying, "The man who doesn't make mistakes, is the man who isn't doing anything." Mistakes are made in cars, mistakes are made in printing papers, mistakes are made in adding up purchases, mistakes are made in figuring contracts, etc. So why not give the Postal Service a "Pat on the back" once in a while, instead of a "Kick in the pants," most of the time.

A dedicated and satisfied Postal employee, who is satisfied with government control, and not under private control.

Abortion

Editor, The Freeman:

I have a Constitutional right to express by opinion—quoting

Voltaire, "You may challenge what I have to say, out you cannot deny me the right to say it."

In reply to the stand of the Civil Liberties Union on Abortion in Wednesday's Freeman, Oct. 1, 1969.

I am of the conscientious opinion that abortion is wrong unless the life of either the mother whether legitimate or illegitimate is involved.

It is also my belief that the state, local or federal law should disqualify from this matter, and that such should be only between physician and patient.

Since we know that some minors and higher teens may be promiscuous and get into trouble, and if such law were passed it could legalize rape with or without consent.

Another interrogation that arises in my mind is—"Should we destroy what would eventually become a human life because we do not want it and yet produce it?"

I do not accept the excuse for the legality of abortion on the premise that a fetus is not formed until the second month.

In my mind and opinion it is legalized murder if such a law were adopted by the legislature of this State of New York or any State.

I also believe it is a very dangerous procedure and that we should think twice before adopting such legislation merely to escape our responsibilities. This also covers the pill, which has already been medically proven dangerous, or any other contraceptive that interferes with nature or what God intended should be.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

Mental Health Meets Tonight

Dr. Anibal Herrera, director of the Ulster-Sullivan Unit at Middletown State Hospital will be the guest speaker tonight at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health. The meeting will start at 8 o'clock at the Ulster County Community College, in room 315 of the MacDonald DeWitt Library Building.

The Ulster-Sullivan Unit was launched about six months ago, and is still in process of development. It embodies a new concept in state psychiatric hospital treatment, which seeks to relate the hospital treatment services and personnel to the patient's home community.

Groundbreaking Held Today at Broadway East

KINGSTON
Groundbreaking for the first private development in Broadway East was held today with a host of city officials witnessing the ceremonies.

The city was represented by its two top officials, Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan and Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo. Also in attendance were Alderman Clifford Sinsabaugh (D-10th Ward), chairman of the Common Council's Urban Renewal Committee, Edward Norton (D-11th Ward) and Fred Harder (D-Ninth Ward).

Gerald Marqusee, the developer, said he hopes to have the homes completed and occupied by early January. The seven-unit family project is located off Newkirk Avenue in the Broadway East Urban Renewal area.

College Conclave

Miss Blanche Kirshenblum of Kingston High School was among guidance counselors from 44 upstate New York, Massachusetts and Vermont secondary schools attending a college admissions conference in the Schenectady area last week. The conference was jointly sponsored by Union College, Skidmore and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. The counselors spent a day on each campus, meeting students, faculty and staff.

MEDALS FOR BRAVERY—President Nixon bestowed the Medal of Honor on four Army men for bravery in the Vietnam War, at a White House ceremony today. The men are (UL) Maj. Patrick Henry Brady, 33, La Puente, Calif.; (UR) Capt. Jack H. Jacobs, 24, Ford, N. J.; (LL) Sgt. Robert M. Patterson, 21, Fayetteville, N.C.; and (LR) Capt. James M. Sprayberry, 22, Sylacauga, Ala. (DEFENSE DEPT. FILE PHOTOS VIA UPI TELEPHOTO).

Two Are Injured In City Accident

KINGSTON
Two persons were injured shortly after 6:10 p.m. Wednesday in a two-car crash at Smith and Garden Streets.

City police reports noted the cars were driven by John Gleason Jr., 21, of R. D. 1, Box 181, Kingston, and Allen L. Hughes, 43, of 322 Hasbrouck Avenue. Gleason was cited by police for unlicensed operation, authorities said.

Gleason sustained injuries to the left arm and right side. Judith Miller, 21, of the Hasbrouck Avenue address, received injuries to the face and stomach. Both were taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance.

After the crash the Hughes vehicle hit a house owned by Margaret Smith at 55 Garden Street, police said.

Suicide Ruled In Man's Death

Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley has reported a finding of suicide in the death of 60-year-old William Lieske of 72 Flatbush Avenue who was found hanging in the bedroom of his home Wednesday afternoon. The cause of death was listed as strangulation.

Authorities said no notes were found. Hartley said the man had been dead about an hour when discovered.

Koenig Answers Singer

KINGSTON
Francis R. Koenig, Democratic-Liberal candidate for mayor, said today that he doesn't think his idea for an Olympic sized swimming pool is "silly" as stated by one of his opponents, Conservative Bernie Singer, in a political advertisement in The Freeman.

Koenig said that he had never committed his administration (if elected Nov. 4) to a swimming pool but said that his administration would study the possibility. "This is not a campaign promise but a pledge to investigate," Koenig said.

Koenig also questions the compatibility of Singer's apparent stand against new recreational facilities (the swimming pool) and his stand for law and order, the latter which appeared in a Freeman article Oct. 7.

Referring to Singer's statement that law and order must have top priority, Koenig said, "If that is a correct quote, it is all the more strange in view of the political ad which ridicules even the idea of considering a swimming pool."

Koenig said, "If the Conservative candidate is seriously concerned with law and order, why doesn't he offer to all the people forward looking recreational facilities. This might prove tremendous help in keeping young people out of trouble, perhaps keeping them away from drugs or from other criminal activities." If Mr. Singer cannot even understand the importance of such a proposed swimming pool and other facilities, then he is without the understanding of some of the real problems of youth, their needs, and our obligations to try to find a solution," Koenig said.

Davis Critical Of 'Treatment' Given by Gallo

KINGSTON

Burton C. Davis, Republican candidate for alderman at large, has criticized his opponent, the incumbent, T. Robert Gallo, for "discourteous treatment" of an alderman at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting.

Davis said he was referring to the incident where Alderman John Machione (R-Second Ward) asked Gallo to tell the page to get a document from the city engineer's office. Davis said Gallo told Machione to get the document himself (which Machione did).

Davis said that Gallo "had shown a lack of respect for an alderman" and said that if he were elected alderman-at-large he would "treat all aldermen with the respect that they deserve."

Youth Injured While Hunting

ELLENVILLE

While hunting in the woods off Whitfield Road north of Route 209 in the Town of Rochester shortly before 6 p.m. Wednesday, a 14-year-old boy was wounded when the shotgun held by his brother accidentally discharged.

State Police reported that Jeffrey Mikalonis of Accord, was wounded on the left side of his head by the gunshot. He was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment. His condition is listed as satisfactory. A report of investigating troopers, noted that a 15-year-old Michael Mikalonis was walking in front of the other boy with his shotgun over his left shoulder when it discharged.

The accident took place on the Wayne Kelder property, authorities said.

Firemen Douse Awning Fire

KINGSTON

Firemen were dispatched to 279 Clinton Avenue at 3:17 a.m. today after fire was reported in an awning in front of the June Dessler Hat Shop at that address. Pressurized water was used to quell the flames.

The blaze burned the awning and a window frame. The heat of the fire cracked a window, fire records noted. The fire was reported by Ernest Guido of 128 O'Neil Street, authorities said. The cause was not determined. Deputy Chief Harry Sills was in charge.

At 7:39 p.m. Wednesday firemen were sent to Furnace Street to standby after a gas leak was reported. The trouble was remedied by Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation men.

fly home from Da Nang Friday. Keeping up their pressure on Communist retreats, U.S. B52 bombers recorded five missions late Wednesday and this morning, dropping at least 450 tons of bombs on the northern coast and along the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon.

At the Paris peace talks, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong today went over the head of U.S. negotiators and appealed directly to the American public to increase its opposition to President Nixon's Vietnam policies.

The Communists ignored allied peace proposals and zeroed in on next Wednesday's Vietnam protest day in the United States.

Col. Ha Van Lau, the Hanoi deputy negotiator, and Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's "foreign minister," appealed to American citizens to increase their resistance and force Nixon to accept their negotiating proposal in Paris.

Today's skirmishing at the 37th weekly session of the eight-month-old talks indicated that Hanoi and the Viet Cong will make no concession from their own 10-point peace package until after they have assessed the scope of popular opposition in U.S. universities.

Mrs. Nancy Sack, president-elect, has been a teacher for nine years, six of those in Rondout Valley. She received her BS at New Paltz in 1963.

First and foremost, the RVTA will strive to improve and strengthen the education provided to the students of the Rondout Valley Schools.

Second, the RVTA will campaign for increasing State aid to local districts so that the local taxpayers' burden will be relieved.

Another important goal for 1969-70 will be to improve communications between the school and the community so that there is better understanding by taxpayers of what their schools are accomplishing.

Wyncoop has been teaching in which led it to fall behind on Rondout Valley for six years in the contract.

Cancels Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The U.S. Air Force has canceled a $4.7 million contract with landley-Page Ltd., Herts, England, because the company was unable to meet delivery schedules for 11 C10 light cargo and passenger planes. The Air Force said the firm had "technical difficulties," including weight and stall problems.

Saugerties Seeking Bids on Landfill

SAUGERTIES, N.Y. — The Town of Saugerties this week began advertising for bids for the daily operation of its landfill site near the Pine Grove area of the township from Oct. 20 to the end of the year, a total of 63 days.

Bids will be accepted until Friday, Oct. 17 at 4 p.m. at which time they will be opened publicly and read aloud at the Town Hall, Main Street, Saugerties.

Based on the current weekly charge for the operation of the landfill on a temporary basis, bidding will be in the $3,500 range. A.J. Scarselli is handling the landfill operation on a temporary basis at $350 per week.

The advertisement for bids provides a general idea of the operation of the landfill. According to the requirements published, the operator must have a machine of the crawler type with blade or bucket equal to or larger than a CAT D6 and all machine operating costs are the responsibility of the successful bidder.

The operator included must serve as caretaker during the period of the contract from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. A maximum of two holidays shall be worked during this period.

The operator shall conduct the landfill in accordance with rules and under the direction of the Town Board. The work shall include trenching for three-months capacity of refuse; stockpiling of cover material and conditioning of material against freezing. A conditioning agent will be supplied by the town.

The machine and operator must be maintained at the site during the hours specified and in operating condition or a suitable replacement. The successful bidder must furnish the town with a copy of the insurance certificate to cover type with blade or bucket equal

Fire Damages Ellenville Home, Two Quizzed

ELLENVILLE — Two transients were under questioning today by village police in connection with an early morning fire that extensively damaged a two-story frame house on Canal Street.

Police Sgt. Otis Brown was on routine patrol shortly before 2:45 a.m. when he discovered the fire. He immediately reported the blaze and firemen in charge of Chief Robert Madden went to the scene. Madden said the flames spread from the place or origin on the second floor and extended up into the blind attic.

Firefighters were at the scene until after 5 a.m. The chief reported the upper section of the building was extensively damaged.

Police Chief Abe Rand said two men who reportedly had been sleeping in the house without permission, were taken to police headquarters for questioning. Rand said the property is owned by Ezra Israel Synagogue and at the time of the fire it was not occupied.

Thirty firemen from the local companies assisted in quelling the blaze.

the town's Zoning Ordinance nears completion.

The association said today that DiDonna will speak at a meeting of the group at 8 o'clock tonight in the Stone Ridge Fire house. He is expected to outline the association's plans for defeating the ordinance that they say is "not in the best interests of the citizens."

Vernon Stoutenburgh, a spokesman for the businessmen, invited residents to the meeting to hear and support the battle.

APICS Meeting

The American Production and Inventory Control Society, Mid-Hudson Valley Chapter, will hold its next meeting Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the Beekman Arms Hotel, Rhinebeck, with a social hour beginning at 6:30 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7:15 p.m.

The speaker for the evening will be James T. Clark, District Representative for Manufacturing Education for IBM. The topic will be "A Production Information System."

All people working in the field of Production and Inventory Control in this area may attend the meeting, but should make dinner reservations by calling Stanley D. Woodbury, Hucktrol, Kingston, or Edward Tilton, Macbeth Corporation, Newburgh.

Data Management

The monthly business meeting of the Hudson Valley Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association will be held Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the Skytop Restaurant in Kingston.

Alfred J. Schrang, vice president in charge of International Banking Operations at Marine Midland Grace Trust Company of New York, will speak on the topic, Operating Problems Involved in International Banking.

FIRE PREVENTION CALL—Members of Kingston Fire Department are distributing fire prevention literature to all homes in the city in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week being observed this week through Saturday. The literature includes a home fire safety check list for elimination of fire hazards. The firemen stress knowing the nearest exit and alternate exit and the briefing of children in the event of a fire. Making a call here are (l-r) Fireman Peter Holmes and Deputy Chief Hugh Greer, head of the department's Fire Prevention Bureau. The homeowner is John Brady of Garden Street. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Senior Citizen Discount Plan To Cover County

KINGSTON — Response from merchants wishing to participate in a program giving discounts to properly identified Senior Citizens making cash purchases has been most gratifying according to a statement by Alexander Yosman, coordinator of the Senior Citizens Advisory Council.

Original plans were that the program would be available for Senior Citizens in the Kingston area. It was then decided by the Council to include the entire county of Ulster. Because of this expansion of the program it is impossible to contact each merchant or pharmacy personally. It is therefore urged that any merchant or pharmacy in Ulster County interested in participating in this program should write the Senior Citizens Advisory Council in care of the Kingston Housing Authority, Flatbush Avenue, Kingston.

Yosman said that the amount of discount to be offered by those participating business firms is completely at the discretion of each individual merchant.

It is also planned that a suitable decal will be issued to all participating merchants and pharmacies to identify them as a member of the program.

The method of distribution of identifying cards to Senior Citizens and those participating merchants will be announced.

The Senior Citizens Advisory Council consists of representatives from Ulster County Social Administration, N. Y. State Employment Service, Kingston Housing Authority, Kingston Recreation Commission, Ulster County Health Department, Ulster County Bar Association and Salvation Army.

Any Senior Citizen requiring assistance of any sort may receive help, without charge, by calling 338-0933.

Woodstock Jaycee Candidates' Night Slated October 21

WOODSTOCK
The Woodstock Jaycees have announced plans to sponsor a "Meet the Candidates" program for Town of Hurley Candidates for supervisor, councilman and justice of the peace. The program is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. in the West Hurley School. The Woodstock League of Women Voters is assisting the Jaycees in conducting the program. In making the announcement Jaycee President, Walter Rhodes said that interest in the Town of Hurley elections is at a high level and that the program will give Hurley residents the opportunity to hear and question the candidates for office. Rhodes reported that the Jaycees are a non-partisan organization which neither supports nor opposes candidates but is interested in sending an informed voter to the polls. The following candidates will be participating. Town Supervisor, Robert Schneller (Dem.), George Schroeder (Rep Cons.) — Town Councilman, Arthur Hogan (Dem.), Walter Rose (Rep Cons.) — Town Justice, Harold Bibbo (Dem.), Cornelius DuMond (Rep Cons.).

CLUB TRIAL—German Shepherd Arras, CDX, owned and handled by Anna Oppel displays form which earned him his Companion Dog Excellent degree from the American Kennel Club in three consecutive shows. The Ulster Dog Training Club Inc. will hold its first American Kennel Club licensed obedience trial Sunday, Nov. 2 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Entries close noon Oct. 14. Forms are available from show secretary, Marie Sanford, West Hurley. Judging will be in Novice A and B; Open A and B and Utility.

Schirmer Speaks On Justice Pay

SAUGERTIES
Saugerties Police Justice Ernest E. Schirmer took exception this week to his salary being used as a political football in the Democratic campaign to reelect A. Michael Schovel supervisor, and said it's about time "someone set the record straight."

"I am a little bit tired of hearing and reading the many remarks made by our town supervisor and Mrs. Schovel concerning my salary as police justice," the Republican town police justice said.

Supervisor Schovel in his denials last Thursday that a financial crisis exists in the Town of Saugerties gave as one of the reasons for "low funds near the end of the third quarter, the deliberate action of the Town Councilmen in approving a $2,600 increase to the town police justice the very first day of the new year after the budget had been adopted."

According to Justice Schirmer's statement today, his salary was fixed at $3,500, the same as for the other two town justices.

"I am of course, receiving exactly the same salary that the other two town justices receive. However, this has been true only since January of this year," Schirmer said.

"For the year 1968, I received the total sum of $2,328. The budget for 1968 fixed my salary at $3,500 to equal that of the other two justices. I received however, only $2,328, in spite of the fact that the budget provided for a $3,500 salary," the justice reiterated.

It now becomes apparent that Schirmer did not receive an increase at that "very first meeting of the new year," but in effect was allocated what should have been appropriated in the budget.

Justice Schirmer said he was elected to a three-year term in the fall of 1967 at a salary of $3,500 and this can not be changed according to state law.

In the 1969 budget my salary was incorrectly listed at $900 instead of $3,500 and the $2,600 appropriated by the Town board "on the very first day of the new year," made up the difference and was not an increase as stated by Schovel," the attorney said.

Plattekill Democrats Set Supper for This Saturday

PLATTEKILL
The Town of Plattekill Democratic Club will have a spaghetti and meatball supper, Saturday, Oct. 18, at the Plattekill Grange Hall, Route 32, Plattekill. Servings will be held from 5 to 7 p.m., and tickets will be available at the door.

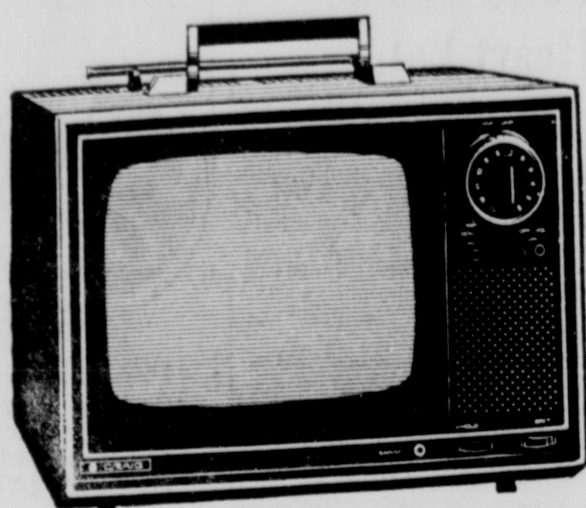

Programs Stepped Up
WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Treasury Department says that to offset the September increase in unemployment, federal job training programs will be stepped up and a computer bank will be devised to match unemployed with vacant jobs. The Treasury conceded some of the joblessness is being caused by the Nixon administration's fight against inflation, but said it was a necessary evil.

BIRTHDAY SOLO—Mary Ann Gehlert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gehlert of West Park, recently made her solo flight in a Cessna plane based at the Kingston Ulster Airport off Flatbush Road. The solo was made on her 16th birthday. Mary Ann, a junior at Our Lady of Lourdes School has been flying since nine years of age with an instructor, Hank Cramer, operator of the airport, is shown cutting the tail of the shirt worn by the young woman. Autographed by Mary Ann the portion of the shirt will be hung on the airport office wall with others who have soloed. The girl's father is a pilot-instructor employed by TWA for 30 years, and he is a part-time instructor at the local airport. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Candidates' Night for Assessors

WOODSTOCK Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association cordially invites the public to hear the candidates for the office of Woodstock town assessor at Woodstock Town Hall Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 8 p.m.

Invitations to speak at this meeting have been extended to Birge Simmons, insurance broker and Republican incumbent for many years, who seeks reelection to the four-year term; and to the candidates, William Kronenberg, Democrat, history teacher in Ontario Central Schools, for the four-year term; Irwin Goldstein, Democrat, businessman and U.S. Air Force veteran, for the two-year term; and Adele Longendyke, Republican, prominent Woodstock civic worker for many years, for the two-year term. This meeting will be devoted exclusively to the candidates for the office of assessor.

Each candidate will be allotted 15 minutes to speak in the order determined according to lots drawn at the meeting. After all of the candidates have completed their addresses, the floor will be open to the audience to ask questions of the candidates.

During the question period each candidate will be given the opportunity to make additional statements and comments, if he wishes.

Under current conditions of real property taxation, the office of town assessor is obviously very important. WTTA urges the public to come and hear what the candidates have to say about their qualifications to hold the office of assessor.

Fire Sirens Will Sound Despite Silent Alarms

WOODSTOCK The fire siren on the Lake Hill Firehouse will be blown at any hour of the day or night for fire, oxygen and emergency calls.

President Alfred Ostrander of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3, serving the Willow, Lake Hill, Shady areas, stated that the present practice of utilizing the siren for emergencies would be continued despite a report that "silent alarms" would be used during the night hours, particularly for oxygen calls. Fire Chief Duncan Wilson decreed that the siren would be blown on a 24-hour basis.

Chief Wilson reported to the meeting of the Lake Hill volunteers a total of seven alarms for September, a successful four-company drill in Zena, a four-company meeting scheduled for Woodstock on Monday, Oct. 27 at 8 p.m., objections to the Underwriter's report on the Woodstock Fire Department being incomplete, and a discussion on the fire dispatch system which was termed "an excellent system in charge of a competent person."

Captain Phillips Eighmey announced fire drills for Sunday at 2 p.m. and Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m. He reported two successful drills held in September and assigned daily station check to firemen P. Eighmey, H. Eighmey, J. Flanagan, and J. Hall.

Receipt of a substantial gift from the Ladies Auxiliary for the purpose of increasing radio coverage for the Lake Hill volunteers was recorded, with also the gift of an aluminum ladder from the Ladies' organization. A total of $866 was received to date from the current fund drive for the company, with solicitations to be continued throughout the territories. Donations from the fund drive are utilized to increase the efficiency of the fire company, stated the captain.

A "house committee" for the firehouse was organized, consisting of three firemen, and an announcement of a family supper for all active firemen and Auxiliary members and families for Saturday, Oct. 25, at the firehouse was made.

Woodstock Area Jaynees Slate District Head

WOODSTOCK Mrs. Joan Lawrence of Saugerties, District II Jaynees president will be the guest speaker at tonight's meeting of Woodstock Jaynees at 8 p.m. in Deanie's Restaurant.

Woodstock Jaynees President Judith McDonal said Mrs. Lawrence will speak on state affiliation with the State Jaynees. A question and answer period will follow the talk. The local Jaynees are currently planning a babysitting course for area teenagers in co-sponsorship with Town of Ulster Kiwanis Club. Further information about the course is available by calling Mrs. McDonal.

Supervisor's Post Is Full-Time Job

Horace Emerick, Republican candidate for Saugerties town supervisor, stated that as the largest town in Ulster County, Saugerties needs a supervisor who will be in his office each day during business hours.

The public interest cannot be properly served by the closed door policy of an absentee supervisor, Emerick added. The recent disclosures regarding the management of the town's financial affairs, emphasizes the need for a supervisor who has the time to adequately understand and administer the town's fiscal affairs.

The principal responsibility of a supervisor is the management of financial affairs and in a town the size of Saugerties, that cannot be done in a haphazard part-time fashion, Emerick concluded.

The Republican candidate, who retired from the Post Office Department a few years ago, stated he would be able to devote his full time to the duties of the office of supervisor.

without any outside business requiring his time. Emerick said he would be able to devote the time required to efficiently manage the town's finances. He pledged that he would never permit town finances to deteriorate to the point where, as recently occurred, there were insufficient funds to cover issued checks. This is inexcusable, Emerick charged, and would never have happened if the proper attention had been given to the fiscal affairs of the Town of Saugerties.

A candidate for supervisor should be able to understand fiscal affairs, Emerick said. If he is unable to do so, he should not seek an office whose primary function is financial management, the Republican candidate said. Emerick added that it is no excuse to say that advisers could be hired. The voters elect the supervisor, not his advisers, and he should be the one who manages the fiscal affairs and not someone who is not answerable to the voters, Emerick concluded.

List Village Dump Hours

SAUGERTIES Mayor Cornelius M. Cox of the Village of Saugerties has announced a schedule change in the days the village dump will be open.

Completes CPA Exam

Mary Elizabeth Overbath of 23 Lafayette Street, Saugerties is one of 97 candidates who successfully completed the latest examination in physiotherapy given by the State Education Department. Newly licensed physiotherapists were announced this week by John W. Paige, director of the division of professional licensing.

Effective immediately, the village dump, located on North Street, will no longer be opened every Saturday. It will be opened on the second Saturday of each month only, from 8 a.m. until 12 noon.

There will be no change in the week day hours. Village residents can use the site from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Hooks Meeting

Washington Hook and Ladder Company of Saugerties meets Monday 8 p.m. in the company rooms at the municipal building.

Prudential's new manager... with some new ideas on protecting your future Meet Wilbur A. DePauw — recently appointed manager of Prudential's Kingston District Office.

Bill's team of Prudential insurance experts needs no introduction in this area. They've been helping local people plan for the future for many years. And today they're developing even more new ideas that can put insurance to work building the kind of future you want.

What better reason to review your own insurance program? Just give Bill a call, or drop by your Prudential office soon.

Why Pru Picked Bill Bill began his Prudential career as an agent in the Pittsford (N.Y.) District Office in 1961. In 1965 he was promoted to staff manager there. He was made training consultant in the Western New York Region in 1967. It is experience and background like this that have made Bill DePauw eminently fitted for the position of manager of the Kingston District.

Man Charged With Murdering School Teacher

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — State Police early today arrested a Troy man and charged him with murder in connection with the death of a Troy school teacher found dead in her apartment two weeks ago.

State Police at East Greenbush said they charged Thomas J. O'Brien, Jr., 22, with the slaying of Jerilyn Bush, 21, whose body was found in her bathtub Sept. 18.

Police said they also charged O'Brien with first degree rape in connection with the alleged assault upon a 19-year-old Rensselaer County girl late Wednesday. They said while investigating the rape complaint the murder charge was levied.

Synagogue News

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath evening services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue Friday 7:30 p.m.

Services will be conducted by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn assisted by Dr. John Park and the Temple Emanuel choir. Sabbath candles will be kindled by Mrs. Joseph La Russo. The Kiddush will be led by Joseph La Russo and his son Daniel.

During the memorial portion of the service the following memories will be invoked: Reuben Leventhal, Bertha Silverman, Herman Marblestone and Joseph Resnick.

The Oneg Shabbat will be sponsored by Joseph and Marion La Russo in honor of their son Daniel who will have his Bar Mitzvah Saturday 11:45 a.m.

Temple youth group will hold its first meeting of the year Sunday 7 to 9 p.m. at the temple. Interested teenagers may attend.

Ahavath Israel

Aggregation Ahavath Israel, a Conservative Synagogue, 100 Lucas Avenue, will begin its new year religious calendar with a resumption of its late Friday evening services, at 8 p.m., this week Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman will resume his sermons, the liturgy will be chanted by Cantor David Katchen, and an Oneg Shabbat will follow the services.

Services are also held every Saturday morning and beginning with this Saturday a new schedule will be followed. Services will begin at 9:30 a.m. sharp, and will conclude at 11 a.m. sharp. At 11 a.m. the children will meet in the sanctuary for services which will be led by Rabbi Schechtman. Religious services are also held on Saturdays at sundown, and every weekday evening at 7:30 p.m.

EMILE G. TAULET
Chairman
Kingston Recreation Commission

AT A SPECIAL TERM of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, hold in the County of Ulster, at the County Court-house, Kingston, New York, on the 2nd day of October, 1969.

PRESENT
HON. ROSCOE V. ELSWORTH, Justice.

In the Matter of the Application of BRUCE SHAPIRO and DANIEL SHAPIRO

For Leave to Change Their Names to BRUCE SHAPIRO RAPAPORT and DANIEL SHAPIRO RAPAPORT.

ORDER CHANGING NAMES

On reading and filing the petitions of Bruce Shapiro and Daniel Shapiro, each verified the 17th day of September, 1969, praying for a change of name of Bruce Shapiro and Daniel Shapiro, it being requested that the said Bruce Shapiro and Daniel Shapiro be permitted to assume the names of Bruce Shapiro Rapaport and Daniel Shapiro Rapaport in the place and stead of their present names, and the said Bruce Shapiro having been born in the City of New York, County of Kings, in the State of New York, on the 3rd day of November, 1952, and the said Daniel Shapiro having been born in the City of Middletown, County of Orange, in the State of New York, on the 25th day of July, 1948, and the Court being satisfied that said petitions are true and that there is no reasonable objection to the change of names proposed;

NOW, on motion of Weinsoff & Weinsoff, Esqs., attorneys for the petitioners, it is ORDERED, that the said Bruce Shapiro and Daniel Shapiro be and they hereby are authorized to assume the name of Bruce Shapiro Rapaport and Daniel Shapiro Rapaport in the place and stead of their present names, on the 27th day of October, 1969; and it is further ORDERED, that the petitioners cause this order and the papers upon which it was granted to be filed in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster within ten (10) days from the date hereof, and that within twenty (20) days after the date of the entry of the said order, the petitioners cause a copy thereof to be published in The Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper within the County of Ulster, at least once, and within forty (40) days after the making of this order, proof of publication by affidavit be filed and recorded in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Ulster.

Scotch vs. Canadian vs. 7 Crown.

We don't want to step on any toes.
Scotch makes a great drink.
So does Canadian.
So does 7 Crown.

We just want to remind you that more people prefer the taste of Seagram's 7 Crown.
Which is why more people buy it than the top Scotch and the top Canadian combined.
Surprised?
Then you haven't tasted our whiskey.

Say Seagram's and Be Sure.

Harassment Of Teenagers Is Discussed

SAUGERTIES

Cooperation and the opening of communications between Saugerties teenagers and the village Police Department was promised by both sides in the controversy stemming from complaints that large groups of the young people are blocking sidewalks and store fronts.

This conclusion was reached at an informal meeting Wednesday night between a delegation of teenagers, two adults, Police Commissioner Donald McCaig, Police Chief Gordon Keeley and Patrolmen Marvin Osborne and Edward Peterson.

Nov. 10 was set for another meeting to determine if the co-operation plan is working. McCaig said today. Thomas Saugerties, spokesman for the young people reported on complaints against the young people was charged. McCaig said the police were doing their duty and answering complaints of the residents. No arrests have been made, McCaig added.

Dear Abby

'Walrus' Hurts Bed!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: After sleeping with this 289 pound walrus every night for EIGHT YEARS—and that is 2,920 nights—Count 'em, I am ready to call it quits.

From the day we were married my husband has insisted on a DOUBLE BED. Don't get the idea that he is some kind of sex maniac because he isn't. He's just afraid to sleep alone!

I mentioned getting twin beds once and he had to bite his lip to keep back the tears.

His side of the bed is swayed back just like a hammock. My side is all right, but all night long he reaches for me and pulls me over to his side. I have such a backache some days I can't stand it and I know it's from that broken-down mattress. Don't say get a new one. It would be just like the old one in no time.

Please tell me how I can get my husband to let me have twin beds. We can afford it.

ACHING BACK

DEAR ACHING: Where have you been? SINGLE "TWIN" MATTRESSES with a common headboard (both king-sized and queen-sized) are available. Run, do not walk, to your nearest furniture dealer and let them show you their selection. They'll thank you and you'll thank me.

DEAR ABBY: For two years now "Mr. X" has been living in our house. Some friends think he's my stepfather. Some don't even know he exists. Most of my friends know that my mom is a widow, but what can I say when someone takes me home and asks whose car that is in our garage? Sign me

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: Don't lie, and don't feel that you must account for your mother's conduct. If someone asks about the car say, "It belongs to a friend of my mother." It does and he is.

DEAR ABBY: "SAM'S WIFE" asked what happened to husbands who worked night and day after having accumulated a fortune. You replied, "They usually leave rich widows."

Not necessarily. Her Sam may stay healthy "married" to his work, but SHE may not be so healthy if she doesn't learn to cope with that kind of husband.

I've been married to a man like Sam for 37 years, and for 35 years, aside from raising five children all by myself, I've been nothing but a housekeeper with bedroom privileges on Wednesdays, and I mean that literally!

My husband has been a good provider. We have never gone on a vacation together, even though his net worth is now up to six figures. We have a nice home, nice clothes and our children (now married) are amazingly well-adjusted in spite of the fact that their father was always a stranger to them. (He still is.) He attended our children's lovely weddings under protest, and then sneaked away from the receptions early—to work.

He has no personal friends—only business friends. I gave up inviting people to the house because my husband always brought home a briefcase full of "paper work" to do.

So, tell wives with husbands who are "married" to their work to do what I did. Make your own friends on your own time, and good luck.

TOD'S WIFE

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STILL WAITING" IN BROWNSVILLE: Be a little more aggressive, and you will either hook him or lose him. You don't say how old you are, but six years is a long time to "wait" for a man to make up his mind.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. (Hear Dear Abby Mon thru Sat. at 10:24 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1969

MENU TIP: Moon conjoined with Uranus in Libra suggests a combination of the delicate and unusual. Aroma and visual appeal are also essential ingredients today. If dining out, be selective. Accent quality and care, not necessarily ostentation. Eggs Benedict and souffles rate high. Imported foods and dining in restaurant featuring foreign foods advocated under these aspects.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Personal changes occur. Some you thought reacted in steady manner—do an about-face. Your appearance is of special importance. Balance and blend color of apparel.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Clandestine activities could receive glare of publicity. Know this and plan accordingly. Not a good day for keeping secrets. Don't try to hide facts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Friends could respond to requests quickly. Realize this, and ask for what you need. Don't permit pride to stand in way of progress. Romantic evening in store.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): There is room at the top. Have confidence. Invest in your own talents. Originality and independence are keys to success for you today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Education, willingness to plan ahead are emphasized. Applies especially to journeys, future vacations. What appears far now may be closer than you think.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Self-improvement subjects should be high on personal agenda. Find out the why of happenings. You can make significant progress if intellectually curious.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are dynamic, creative, artistic. You seldom follow the crowd. You are an innovator and set the pace and life styles. You are completing a cycle and should welcome new assignments, contacts and challenges. (To find out more about yourself and astrology, order Sydney Omarr's 50-page booklet, The Truth About Astrology, send 50 cents to Omarr Booklet, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 3240, Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10017.) Copyright 1969, Gen. Fea. Corp.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Emotions play major role. If single, you could be involved in dashing affair of heart. If married, there is general restlessness. Strive to rediscover romance. Dine out—have fun.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Changes occur at home base. Financial backing comes from unexpected source. Have facts, plans outlined. Not wise to delegate important duties.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You may find yourself taking detours during journey. Be versatile. Creative thinking is an essential today. Take care with what you put on paper. Your humor could be misinterpreted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Conserve assets. Avoid tendency to be careless with money. Long-range financial commitments, not wise. Patience in this area could result in greater bargain.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

REJECTED: (Q.) Do you think there is something wrong with a girl who has good marks all four years in high school and then gets rejected by the first two colleges she applies to?

In high school I made the honor roll one year and won two awards. They say you have to work hard in college. In high school I worked hard. I sometimes spent two and three hours doing research work at the library for just one class.

Do you think I am college material? Should I apply at another college or just give up and get a job?—J. in California.

(A.) You sound like college material to me. The colleges you tried for probably had far more applicants than they could take.

Popular or famous colleges and universities today are likely to be overloaded with applications. But many good colleges have openings.

Try some others. Try a dozen, if necessary. You'll make it.

WINTER WHITE: (Q.) My daughter's winter coat is white vinyl. It is dressed up with a white fake fur collar. She has white leather shoes that look like new. Can she wear them this winter with her white coat for church and other dressy occasions?

Are white and bone leather shoes in good taste the year round?—Mrs. H. in Houston.

(A.) Darker shoes are better for winter. There is one exception. White shoes, usually silk, are worn to wintertime formal events by some women.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Gleason Popularity Holds

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jackie Gleason's weekend CBS-TV series is operating at maximum efficiency—with high-powered attractions—in facing the new head-on competition of NBC-TV's Andy Williams.

NBC-TV's intention with Mr. Williams was to try to knock off the great Gleason, who has owned the early Saturday night audience for some time now. And although it is early in the season, the indications are that Mr. Gleason's popularity is still as strong as ever—maybe stronger.

Not only is Art Carney back with Gleason as they continue to be the best comedy team in American show business today, but their adventures in "The Honeymooners" sketches—now expanded to full musical hours—have been given a fresh location after their fictitious winning of a trip to Hollywood.

Bridge

Break of Trump Tolls Outcome

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If you have any idea that the finals of the Spingold Cup were a romp for "The Dallas Aces," you can get rid of that idea quickly.

The bidding in the box is that of Ira Rubin, sitting South, and Jeff Westheimer, sitting North. Bob Hamman did open one heart in the East seat and Mike Lawrence raised to two, but the hand belonged to North and South.

It is common American practice to raise an overall like an opening bid, so Jeff's two-spade call was normal.

Ira had too good a hand to pass at two spades. Lots of players would have gone right to game. Some might have tried a three-club or three-diamond bid but Ira, who is a past master of competitive bidding, made the simple call of three spades.

This put the issue of game or no game squarely up to Jeff. He looked at his 4-3-3-3 distribution and his three little trumps and finally decided that this was not the time to try for the game bonus.

He was right, because trumps broke 3-1. Had they broken 2-2, game would have been made easily.

At the other table, the South player for "The Dallas Aces" decided to bid three clubs, rather than three spades.

The North player was looking at the same 4-3-3-3 distribution that Jeff held, but he was greatly encouraged by his possession of the queen and jack of clubs. He decided that he should jump to game and he would sure have been right if the trump suit had behaved for him.

Furthermore, the Gleason audience admiration—as Gleason has—he is at the top of the Williams competition, has muscled up on major guest stars for "The Honeymooners"—with Bing Crosby and Maureen O'Hara participating this past weekend, and Carol Lawrence and the Baja Marimba Band appearing this coming Saturday in an episode set in Mexico.

On his season premiere, Gleason outpointed Williams, who had a week head-start on him, by a tremendous margin in the ratings. This was not exactly a fair assessment of their relative strength, because apparently one quarter of Williams' show was obliterated from Boston to Denver by the latter part of an NBC-TV baseball game between the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants. Nevertheless, Gleason figures to remain a ratings power.

It is one thing to be admired. A lot of performers are admired. But when a performer has earned affection as well as

O'Dwyer, Samuels Among Mourners

Joseph Y. Resnick — A Final Tribute

By EDWARD A. PALLADINO
Assistant City Editor

ELLENVILLE
Joseph Y. Resnick was buried Wednesday afternoon, only little more than a stone's throw from the giant Channel Master Corp., which he started with a $7,000 investment and built into a multi-million dollar electronics empire.

More than 2,000 persons from all walks of life heard the former Congressman eulogized as a humanitarian, business genius, inventor and dynamic political figure. Resnick, 44, died suddenly Monday while on a business trip to Las Vegas. The mourners included top political figures like Paul O'Dwyer, who defeated Resnick for the U. S. Senate nomination after a bitter struggle; Howard Samuels, a close ally of the former Ellenville Congressman and those from Ulster and neighboring counties.

"Joe Resnick was a great and good man. There are some distinguished men best admired from a distance, but not Joe Resnick. He was beloved and respected by all. He was a unique individual."

Rabbi Herman Eisner, who conducted the service at the Joseph Slutsky Center in Ellenville, added, "We have come in most impressive numbers to weep for the Honorable Joseph Y. Resnick and for the years he did not live."

"In his two terms in Congress he left an indelible imprint. He brought honor to his nation, his people and to his family," Rabbi Eisner said.

Resnick was president of the board of directors of the Hebrew Day School of Ulster and Sullivan Counties. During the service, it was announced that the science room of the school at Kiamasha Lake had been dedicated in his memory. Many who attended services at the center stayed outside. Most of the seats and standing room space had been filled almost an hour before the start of the solemn services.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, a personal friend of Resnick, sent a telegram to Mrs. Resnick and their four children. Rabbi Eisner read it to the mourners:

"Dear Mrs. Resnick: Mrs. Johnson and I grieve with you in this hour of sorrow and loss. Joe was a good friend and a good ally. I have many reasons to be thankful for his unwavering support during my presidency."

"I will remember him as his history will remember him, as a tireless fighter for social justice, who helped to accomplish so much in so short a life. Our thoughts and our prayers are with you today."

Also read was a telegram from Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., who was represented at the services and burial by John Naccarato, his Ulster County representative.

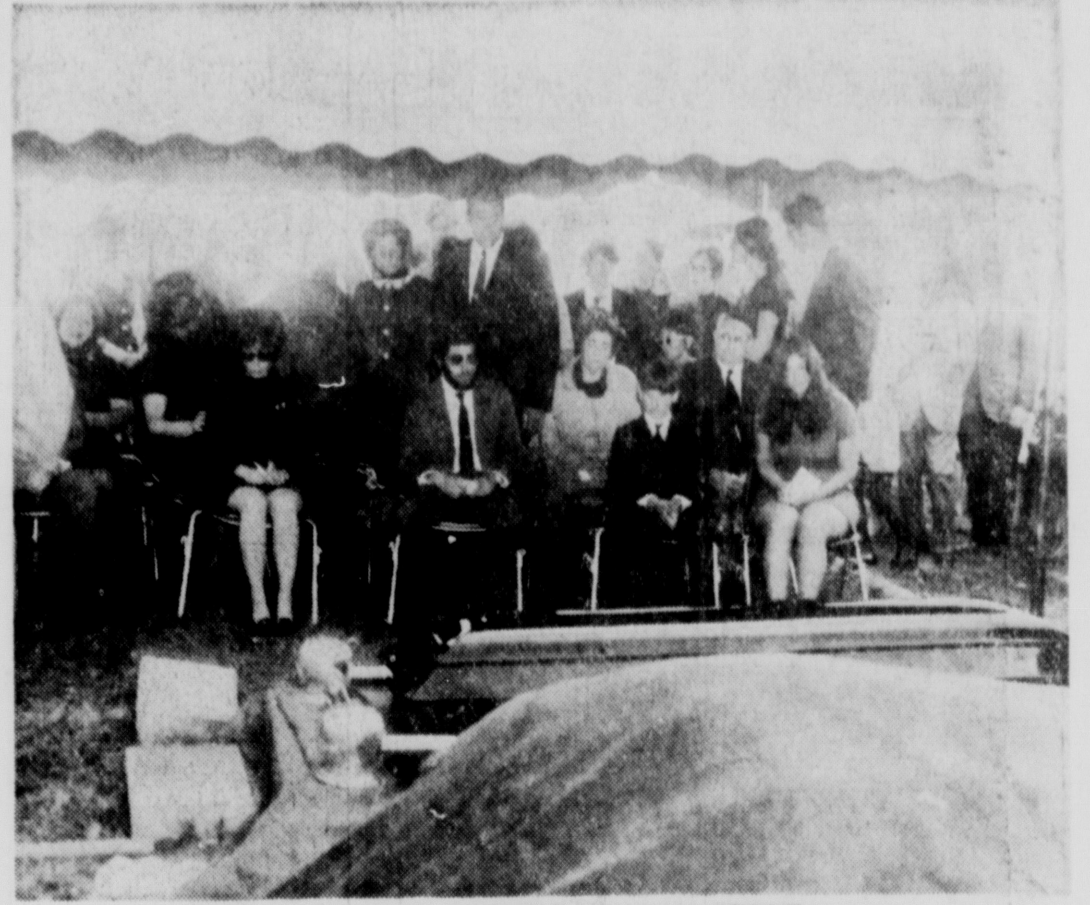

The Channel Master Corp. was closed for the day as a tribute to Resnick. During the services and burial, most businesses in Ellenville and in the Town of Wawarsing remained closed.

The Ellenville Police force, members of the New York State Police and the Ulster County Sheriff's Dept. handled the traffic and other details.

Those paying last respects to the former Congressman included Ulster County Clerk Albert Spada, former Democratic chairman Dr. Gerald P. Gorman; Aaron E. Klein, present chairman of the County Democrats; Peter J. Savago, chairman of the County Legislature; Victor C. Waryas, former State Assemblyman and David C. Schoentag, Dutchess County Executive.

New Paltz Tightens Controls on Planning

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

NEW PALTZ
New Paltz Town Board took steps to tighten its control over the activities of the town's Planning Board at the regular meeting here, Wednesday night. The board voted unanimously to reassume the responsibility of approving all plans pertaining to the establishment of new businesses in the township. Since the move requires a change in the town's zoning local law it cannot be consummated until a public hearing is conducted.

According to Town of New Paltz Supervisor Anthony Moriello the move to reassume this authority was based on the fact that the Town Board wants to keep a closer eye on the growth of the township. Moriello added that it was in no way intended to be a censur of the Planning Board.

In related action at the meeting, their was some discussion about the aesthetic merits of the rapidly growing Simmons Shopping Plaza in New Paltz. One resident of the town suggested that the new shopping center was an "eyesore" and that the developers were not adhering to the designed specifications spelled out in their plans.

The resident went on to ask the board if there was anything the town could do to prevent such unattractive development.

In response, Moriello pointed out that if there were a discrepancy between the approved plans and the actual development, the town's building inspector could enforce the development. However, he did not comment on the specific charge because "we don't know the facts."

Moriello went on to say that the Town Board must strike a reasonable balance in the area of planning in order to protect both the rights of the community and the freedom of the developer.

In other action at the Wednesday night meeting, the board approved a contract with Poughkeepsie architect, Ralph Gionta, who has been retained by the board to design a storehouse for the town's mobile equipment.

The board also set a date for a public hearing on the town's 1970 preliminary budget, which they are currently formulating. The hearing is scheduled for Nov. 5 at 8 p.m.

Aid for Handicapped In Ellenville Schools

ELLENVILLE
A committee has been organized of staff members of Ellenville Central School District in order to locate and develop programs for handicapped children in the district. The committee, appointed by Richard Hayden, superintendent of schools, will consist of members of the district's administration, professional staff, and faculty.

The committee met recently and discussed, among other things, vocational training for handicapped children. It was agreed, at that time, that an effort should be made to place the older handicapped students, in instances where they were capable, either in the BOCES vocational program or in Gateways Industry.

At a subsequent meeting a sub-committee began work on a revision of curriculum for the special education classes, currently being taught in Ellenville schools. A spokesman for this group stated that he hoped that this study would bring about a good solid educational program for those children unfortunate enough to have a short term or long term handicap.

Israel Bond Award For Leon Greenberg

ELLENVILLE
Leon Greenberg, president and general manager of the Monticello Raceway Association, is to be honored as the Israel Bond "Man of the Year" at the first combined Sullivan-Ulster County testimonial dinner here Oct. 26 at the Fallsview Hotel.

Greenberg was selected, said the Israel Bond Committee, "for his outstanding contributions to humanity at home and abroad and for his dedicated efforts on behalf of the economic upbuilding of the State of Israel."

Active in local Israel Bond campaign programs for a number of years, Greenberg is a Trustee of Israel and was instrumental in enlisting Monticello Raceway as a Trustee last year, said the committee. Trust

Homecoming Weekend At New Paltz College

NEW PALTZ
Twenty floats designed and decorated by student organizations at State University College, New Paltz, will parade down Main Street, New Paltz Saturday beginning at 10 a.m. to launch the College's annual Alumni Homecoming weekend activities.

The line of march will take the parade from the Service Building on South Manheim Boulevard, down Main Street and left on Plattkill Avenue to the Campus School athletic field. Community, student, and alumni leaders will review the floats from a stand at Ago Sorority House on Main Street, where judges will also announce parade winners.

The college predicts that over 3,500 students, area residents, alumni, staff, and faculty members will turn out that afternoon at 2 p.m. for the Homecoming soccer game against Cortland and the halftime activities featuring the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

Frank Palladino, alumni relations director, said that from responses so far "it looks like a good year for homecoming," and that he expects more than 500 alumni to return to the campus for the weekend events.

Legislature Nominee Favors State Park

NEW PALTZ
Republican nominee for the County Legislature (District 8), Louis Bevier, has joined his Republican running mate and Democratic opponent by an indication that he favors the establishment of a state park in the Lake Awosting area.

Speaking at an informal coffee hour at a home here, recently, Bevier said that "every effort should be expended by public officials and individual citizens to see that a state supported recreational facility is established in this area. Bevier's running mate for the two legislative seats, Peter J. Savago and his Democratic opponent, A. E. "Al" Woolley have previously indicated support for the same proposal.

During the course of his remarks, Bevier, who is currently a councilman on the Gardiner Town board, also indicated that he favored the establishment of a network of small parks at various locations throughout the county.

He explained that the need for expanded recreational facilities is served from the factor of increased population compounded by increased leisure time.

I believe steps should be taken now to insure that this generation and generations to come have areas in which to expend their leisure time and energy," Bevier said.

Oriole Manager Says

New York to Face Best Defensive Infield

BALTIMORE (AP)—Manager [the best defensive infield in] of the Detroit Tigers once said [trying to penetrate it was "like barely above a whisper, said to-] The unit covers so much [trying to throw hamburger day the Baltimore Orioles "have] ground, Manager Mayo Smith [through a brick wall."

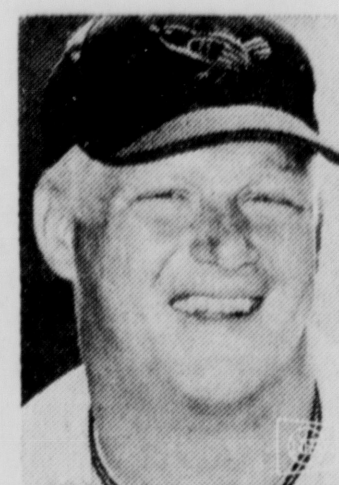

Weaver, who claimed the [colorful description was new to him, nevertheless agreed with Smith. And on Saturday, when the World Series opens, the New York Mets will be able to see for themselves.

Robby Is Anchor
The Baltimore infield is anchored by 32-year-old third baseman Brooks Robinson, who in 1968 was voted by fellow American League players as the best at his position for the ninth straight year.

Slender Mark Belanger, 25, is at shortstop, 26-year-old Dave Johnson plays second, and Boog

Unit Has Quality

Robinson, who said the unit was the quality of Baltimore's infield when the Orioles won the 1966 World Series, said Belanger had improved 100 per cent over last season.

A good defense and good pitching usually go hand in hand, and the Orioles have both.

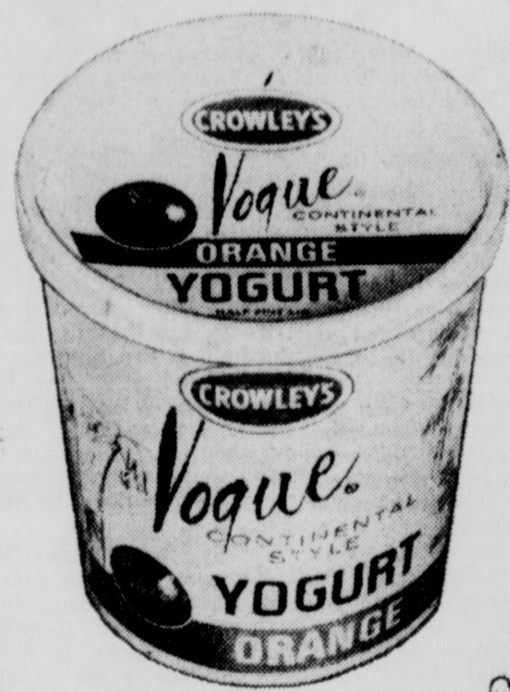

"It's great pitching for this club," said Jim Palmer, who posted a 16-4 record in regular season play and won again Monday to complete a three-game sweep over Minnesota in the American League playoffs.

"The infield gobbles everything up," Palmer said "and Paul Blair in center field chases down my fly balls."

Palmer to Pitch Third

Palmer is scheduled to start the third game for the Orioles, following Mike Cuellar, 23 1/2, and Dave McNally, 20 7/8.

"I understand the Mets' pitching is good," Weaver said, "but so is ours. It's going to be good stuff against good stuff. With Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman pitching for New York in the first two games, neither team may score many runs." As for his voice, strained during the playoffs and aggravated by countless interviews since, Weaver claimed it would be all right by game time Saturday. "I'll rise to the occasion," he said.

Mets Off
To Meet Foe

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets take off for Baltimore today. Amazing as they are, they will take a plane instead of walking on air to their World Series meeting with the Orioles.

The governor of the state, Nelson Rockefeller, tossed a cocktail party for them Wednesday night, and the mayor of the city, John Lindsay, was to see them off at LaGuardia Airport.

The invasion of Baltimore is especially welcome to Ron Swoboda, the erratic fielder and erratic hitter who will be in right field in place of Art Shamsky when leftthander Mike Cuellar goes to the mound for the Orioles Saturday.

Swoboda, who drove in 52 runs while batting .235, was strictly a cheerleader during the Mets' sweep of the Atlanta Braves, but the presence of Cuellar and Dave McNally in the first two games of the Series activated manager Gil Hodges' platoon system.

As a teenager, Swoboda was scouted by Walter Yousse of the Orioles, but at that time the Baltimore organization was most interested in pitcher Wally Bunker, so Ron got away.

Swoboda is not the only cheerleader who will be in the starting lineup. Hodges is going with his entire righthanded hitting lineup.

In addition to Shamsky, Ed Krehenpool, Wayne Garrett and Ken Boswell will go to the bench.

Donn Clendenon will take over for Krehenpool at first base, Ed Charles will replace Garrett at third and Al Weis will be at second instead of Boswell. The opportunity to play is especially important to Charles, who has been in organized ball for 18 years. This may be his final year, and he knows of no better way to close out a career than in the Series. And Charles is confident that he will be going out with a winner.

Rain kept the Mets off the Shea Stadium turf Wednesday, but starting pitcher Tom Seaver worked for a short while in the bullpen.

Afterwards, he said that his left leg, which he had strained slightly while shagging flies before Sunday's game in Atlanta, had given him no trouble at all.

The ace of the New York staff, who will pitch Saturday, Seaver admitted he didn't know very much about the power-packed Oriole lineup and hadn't faced them since a spring training effort in 1967.

NEW YORK (AP)—Just 80 feet down the tunnel from the Mets' noisy dressing room under Shea Stadium, George Sauer sat in the Jets' quiet clubhouse and pointed to one of the major similarities between New York's two championship teams:

"We both have pitching staffs."

The reference, of course, was to the Mets' pitching corps, led by Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman, and to the Jets' quarterback, Joe Namath, whose passes to Sauer set up the Jets' victory over Baltimore in the Super Bowl last January.

They made the Jets the toast of the town, but suddenly they have found themselves orphaned and forgotten, a victim of the Mets' success—forced to workout at a prison while Shea Stadium is maintained for baseball and almost totally forgotten by those who adored them just months ago.

But despite the fact that they have surrendered the spotlight and lost their No. 1 position in the eyes of New York fans they have become somewhat of a point of reference for those hoping the Mets can upset the odds and beat Baltimore in the World Series.

The pitching staffs cited by Sauer are just one of the many similarities that keep arising in discussions comparing the Mets and the Jets.

ning their respective league titles, they both went into the championships—the Super Bowl in the Jets' case and the World Series in the Mets' case—as underdogs and both faced Baltimore teams.

"Just like us they've won their league title," said Sauer, joining in the similarity discussion, "and now they want to prove they're the best. They certainly don't want to come out second best at this point, which is the way we felt."

As for the sudden development of the Mets as compared with the Jets, Sauer said he felt the baseball team had put it all together in a shorter time.

"We had more potential for a championship before we won than they did," he explained. "In 1966 and 1967 we had close to championship caliber teams—and we didn't win. The Mets seem to have pulled all their potential together in one season and gotten the most out of it."

"They've been able to utilize their talent more fully than we were."

Sauer also expressed the opinion that while both are underdogs, the situations are not the same, although admitting each could claim a psychological weapon.

"In our case we had all the advantages in getting up for a game because it was ludicrous for us to be that much of an underdog," said Sauer. "Then there was the great competition between the leagues—the feeling expressed that the AFL was nothing and the NFL great.

"In the Mets' situation the odds are closer and it's accepted that both leagues are playing the same caliber ball. But the Mets have so much going for them even without that—their own spirit and their history of being the worst and now possibly the best."

Despite the fact he sat in a virtually deserted dressing room while the Mets' clubhouse was jammed with newsmen, Sauer obviously did not mind the attention being expended on New York's latest heroes, even if it was the Jets who were the temporary losers.

"There are some things we've had to do that are inconvenient, like playing on the road," Sauer pointed out, "but it's great for the city and that means the same fans who supported us when we were fumbling, dropping passes and having bombs thrown on us."

"It's only natural that interest has flopped over to them. The Mets are what's happening now."

"Even our guys are caught up in it."

Car Value Gains Win In Monticello Race

MONTICELLO Car Value, a 5-year-old mare, took victory away from Dody O'Brien, a 2-year-old filly, by half a length in the featured fourth race at Monticello Raceway on Wednesday night. In 2:09.1, after the younger horse almost had the race wire-to-wire.

Gary Meyer was the winning driver, and while his charge was never out of contention, he did not move her forward until the top of the paddock turn on the final go-around.

Until that point, it had appeared that Clint Galbraith was going to be the winning driver with Car Value, whom he kept at the head of the field after drawing the rail position. Dody O'Brien set fractions of :32.1, 1:05.4 and 1:37.4. Her closest competition through these marks came from In Touch, a 5-year-old gelding reined by Ingvar Berg. After the three-quarters, though, In Touch faded rapidly back to fifth.

It was at this point that Car Value began her brush, and her 3/16th's effort took her past all horses to cross the wire first. The show horse was another rapid climber, Watch You Step, William Perick driving.

Car Value is a daughter of Carloader Miss Dell. This year she has exactly 30 starts, in which she has recorded 4 wins, 2 seconds, and 4 thirds.

The 3 and 1 daily double combination at Monticello Raceway on Wednesday night combined two youthful "chalk" horses whose joint effort returned only $23.80.

The opener was a trot, captured by Redbud, a four-year-old horse, who shaved a full second off his best previously recorded time for the mile when he completed last night's effort in 2:12 flat, under the guidance of Frank Melia.

Actually, for Redbud, a son of Brave Scott-After Me Sir, it

Flood May Foul Allen Deal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Controversial Rich Allen was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday, or was he? The Philadelphia Phillies announced the trade of Allen to the Cardinals for catcher Tim McCarver, outfielder Curt Flood, reliever Joe Browne, infielder Byron Browne, infielder Cookie Rojas and pitcher Jerry Johnson went along with Allen.

Flood, however, heard of the trade and immediately announced he had retired from baseball.

The Cardinals said Flood's decision didn't change a thing. "Once the trade is made, it goes," said a St. Louis spokesman.

Phillies general manager John Quinn said only "I have no statement until I have had a chance to talk with Flood."

The deal, according to the Cardinals' spokesman, could wind up in the office of the commissioner of baseball.

Allen, the slugging first baseman, was overjoyed at the news of the trade. "Six years in this town (Philadelphia) is enough for anybody. I'm glad to be away from Quinn and all of them. They treat you like cattle."

Flood said in a statement released by a public relations agent: "If I were younger I certainly would enjoy playing for Philadelphia. But under the circumstances, I have decided to retire from organized baseball effective today (Wednesday)."

The 32-year-old Flood and the 27-year-old McCarver were the key figures in the deal for Philadelphia. Flood is one of the best defensive outfielders in baseball and hit .285 with 57 RBI this past season. McCarver hit .250 and had 51 RBI as the Cardinals.

Allen's problems with the Phillies began July 3, 1965, when he had a fight during batting practice with teammate Frank Thomas. Thomas was released and after that Allen was the victim of intense booing from the home fans. Then, there were missed airplanes, missed games, latenesses for batting practice, a bar fight, and an almost crippling injury highlighting his stormy career.

This past summer he was fined $1,000 for missing a flight to St. Louis. Later, June 24, he failed to show up for a double header at Shea Stadium in New York. Skinner suspended him indefinitely. He missed 26 days and 29 games, losing in excess of $10,000 in salary.

When he finally came back, after a meeting with club owner Bob Carpenter, he vowed this was his last season in Philadelphia. St. Louis has gambled that he manager Red Schoendienst can accomplish what Mauch and Skinner couldn't — get Allen to conform to rules. Schoendienst, asked if he felt he could handle Allen, said: "I don't know Allen. I've never spoken to him. I know his reputation, of course, but I don't know any of the background of what went on in Philadelphia."

Clean Slate The St. Louis skipper said his rules are not tough, that he demands a player be in shape when he comes to the ball park. I usually don't have trouble in handling anybody. The big thing is they have to handle themselves. He (Allen) will start here with a clean slate.

As for Allen, he said he was going out to St. Louis and getting himself settled down. "I won't worry about anything but baseball," he said. "I want to be on a pennant winner and this may be it."

Highland-Bushmen in Key Tilt

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON Highland and Pine Bush clash head on Saturday in a meeting of the unbeaten that could go a long way in deciding the flag for the Ulster County Athletic League football pennant.

Highland Crushed Liberty

The following week, the Highlanders came right back with a 20-12 win over Rondout and last week they crushed Liberty, 42-0. The Redskins had also figured as a team to be reckoned with before Coach Lem Atkins and his boys put the finishing touches on them.

The Highlanders have a devastating ground attack, grinding out better than 200 yards in each of the first three titts.

John Indelicato and Doug Geer share the signal-calling roles, with both men doubling in the defensive backfield. Geer is a speedster who adds an outside threat to the attack.

The other running backs are Cos Trapani, Bill Henderson and Tony Biancardi, with Perry Monroe chipping in with some fine play as a backup full back.

The defense is anchored by Frank Crimi, Hardy Marc and Trapani.

Bushmen Are Tough

The Pine Bush team is also a tough outfit, having defeated Liberty 18-16 and New Paltz, 28-0. The Bushmen have a fine backfield, but appear to be a little weaker in the line, having given up 33 points to Minisink in a non-league loss in the first game of the season and 16 to Liberty. However, the Bushmen did shutout New Paltz.

Dennis Derry calls signals for the Bushmen and is one of the league's finer passers. Rich Alexander, Gary Cisco and Kevin Kelly fill out the other backfield positions with Bob O'Brien, Vince Bubolo and John Christian anchoring the line.

Marlboro-Rondout

The Marlboro-Rondout tilt is also one of great importance. The Ganders were expected to bounce back strong against Walkill after an opening game loss to Highland. However, Rondout trailed 2-0 early in the tilt and could manage but six points to overcome the home side.

Marlboro is led by their all purpose back Bruce Partington. Partington is one of the strongest runners in the league and, like his opposite number on the Highland side, Cos Trapani, is one of the most versatile.

Battling Bruce can beat you in every possible on a football field.

He is a threat to go all the way on any play, kicks extra points and field goals and can throw the halfback option pass.

He is joined in the backfield by quarterback Dan Passanto, a fine passer and runner and big Paul Ibsen, who may just be the best blocking fullback in the UCAL.

The line is anchored by Tom Minutolo and Mike LoFaro.

Gale Leads Indians

Ontoora, led by Dennis Gale, Steve Kimmel and Bill Mellert will travel to Liberty to do battle with the Redskins.

Liberty was literally blown off the field in last Saturday's loss to Highland, 42-0. The Indians did a good job against Marlboro before Partington's field goal did them in. A loss for either side would probably eliminate them from serious UCAL title contention.

Finally, Walkill goes to New Paltz in an effort to gain their first win of the season. In fact, both squads are looking for their first marks in the win column. The game should be a defensive battle as both squads have had trouble generation any offensive attack thus far.

Parade of Managers Continues in Majors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Note all managers, like Dave Bristol, were born to be fired. For example, take Joe Gordon.

Gordon, former star second baseman, pulled a surprise Wednesday by resigning as manager of the expansion Kansas City Royals, openly admitting he isn't tough enough to handle today's ballplayers.

Replacing him will be Charlie Metro, a long-time coach who has only four months of major league managerial experience, but a guy Gordon calls "a no-nonsense type guy on that field."

Bristol, on the other hand, went out the usual way—he was pushed out as General Manager Bob Howsam after his Cincinnati team finished third in the National League's West Division.

The Reds have yet to come up with a successor.

The two increased to eight the toll of unemployed managers, who are no longer around after the start of last season.

Frank Lucchesi replaced fired Bob Skinner at Philadelphia. Lefty Phillips took over for fired Bill Rigney with the California Angels, John McNamara replaced fired Hank Bauer at Oakland, Eddie Kasko was the replacement for fired Dick Williams at Boston, Al Lopez quit and was replaced by Don Gutierrez with the Chicago White Sox and Larry Shepard was axed at Pittsburgh, all before the season ended.

Pittsburgh is expected to name a successor to Shepard in the next few days.

Gordon led the Royals to 69 victories and fourth place in the American League's West Division and now will remain with them as a special scout and liaison man.

"It takes a very firm hand to manage today and I'm not a firm-hand type of manager. Frankly, I've reached the point where I just don't want to manage again."

Metro, 50, who served as a coach to Gordon the final five weeks of the season, had been the team's director of scouting.

He signed a one year contract. Bristol, at 36, was the youngest manager in the majors and had no hard feelings on his release.

"Howsam thought we should have won," he said, "and I thought so too. The way to keep from getting fired in the majors is to win—not just games, but pennants."

Bristol, who piloted the Reds to fourth place finishes in 1967 and 1968 after taking over as an interim manager in 1966, was offered a position in the front office to handle special assignments.

J. Coleman Beats Foe In Soccer

KINGSTON

John A. Coleman High School's soccer team gained its first win of the season by downing Oakland High, 3-0, in a game at the winner's field.

Coleman now posts a 1-5 record. The winners scored one goal in the second period and two in the fourth to ice the tilt.

Tom Sullivan put the home side on the score board in the second period with a penalty kick after 9:30. That was all the scoring until the final stanza when Mark Weber took a pass from Ferdie Groce and drove the kick home at 8:45.

Don Hastings moved to the inside left position from his goalie spot and added the last marker at 12:40.

Sawyers Set For Pioneers

By MORT LAFFIN

The Sawyers of Saugerties High School have the unenviable task of trying to contain the juggernaut offense of the Poughkeepsie High School football team in a key Dutchess County Scholastic League Central Section tilt at the Sawyers' field Saturday. Game time will be 1:30 p.m.

Coach Don Smith's Pioneers simply rolled over their first two opponents this season, scoring a total of 63 points against Mt. Vernon and Cardinal Farley. The East Bank eleven downed Mt. Vernon 25-8 and then poured it on the Cadets of Cardinal Farley Military Academy, 38-0.

Gary Staufferman, said to be the best quarterback in the DCSL this year, runs the Pioneer attack. He is backed by potential All-County selections Dan DeCuitiss at halfback and Tony Johnson at fullback.

Johnson is a destroyer at fullback, weighing in at 230 pounds and listed on the program as being 6-5. His plunges for short yardage are usually successful. He also has good speed for a man his size and can turn the ends without too much trouble.

The line is anchored by tight end Joe Johnson, center Dennis Laddinski and tackle Steve Forman.

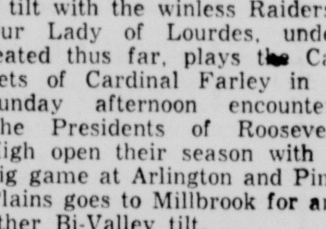

The Sawyer attack is built around the passing of Holly Carnright and the hard-running of Mark Ishkanian and Lynn Whiteford. John Carnright is Holly's favorite target at end.

Dave Smith and Ray Fuller anchor the defense.

Saugerties' problem has been, thus far, to sustain a combined effort. When the offensive team has been running well, the defense has been unable to hold and vice versa. If Coach Fred Seither can get his boys to put it all together, it could be a tough afternoon for the visiting Pioneers.

In other DCSL games, Dover Plains moves into Red Hook for a tilt with the winless Raiders. Our Lady of Lourdes, undefeated thus far, plays the Cadets of Cardinal Farley in a Sunday afternoon encounter.

The Presidents of Roosevelt High open their season with a big game at Arlington and Pine Plains goes to Millbrook for another Bi-Valley tilt.

Lang - Brown Wedding Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Lang Sr. of 15 Browning Terrace, Kingston, announce the marriage of their daughter, Cheryl Anne, to Dale William Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown of 68 Emerick Street, Kingston, on Saturday, Oct. 4 at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Alfred Pizzuto officiated at the double ring ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were provided by James Sweeney.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white crepe featuring a wide lace collar and long full chiffon sleeves edged with wide ruffled lace cuffs. Her headpiece was a white crepe pillbox trimmed in lace with a shoulder length veil. She carried a nosegay of white rosebuds and daisies tied with long satin streamers.

Miss Karen Lang of Kingston was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a turquoise dress trimmed with ecru lace collar and cuffs. Her headpiece consisted of turquoise velvet bow trimmed with ecru lace and she carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds and daisies.

John Lang Jr., USN, brother of the bride, was best man.

A buffet luncheon was held at the home of the bride for the immediate family. The wedding cake featured the same ornament used on the bride's great grandparents' wedding cake in 1891.

Mrs. Brown is a graduate of Kingston High School and Board of Cooperative Educational Services School of Practical Nursing. She is employed on the staff of Benedictine Hospital.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is employed by Brown Construction Company of Kingston.

After a wedding trip through the New England states, the couple will reside in Bearsville.

Art Classes for Adult Beginners

For the first time since its inception, Young People's Studio of Woodstock, the acclaimed art school, has announced the opening of two all new art classes especially prepared for — and open only to — adult beginners, and young adults ages 13-17. Outstanding young New York artist and teacher, Lynn Silberstang, who now maintains her studio in Woodstock, will be presenting the professional instruction to both of the new classes.

The adult painting class for beginners is open only to the novice, and offers a thorough and well-rounded program of basic painting with oils, acrylics and watercolors. Classes meet 9:30 a.m. - noon, either on Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Art for young adults, is open to students between ages 13-17, and offers a full program of painting, drawing, and woodcut. This special class meets only on Friday afternoons, 3:40 - 6 p.m. There are no prerequisites for either class, and registration is limited to seven students in each group. Registration is by the month and classes continue until late spring. The adult beginner classes start on October 20 and 21. Art for young adults begins on October 24. Early registration is advised.

The instructor for both classes, Lynn Silberstang, who is presently preparing for an exhibition of her own work, brings to the Young People's Studio program a very thorough and broadly-based art background. At the University of Illinois, Mrs. Silberstang was honored as Fine Arts. A graduate of Lydia E. Bates Scholar in Columbia University, she was the holder of a full tuition scholarship through graduation (cum laude). In addition to her training at the Art Students League of N.Y. with Robert B. Hale, she also studied with Meyer Shapiro, Peter Agostini, and Abraham Kampf. Along with her background in painting and drawing, she has worked in the fields of Design, Art Anatomy, Sculpture, and Art History. She has also worked professionally with stained glass windows on a number of projects in New York City, completing the windows from start to installation. Lynn Silberstang's paintings cover a wide spectrum of subjects, including landscape, figure, still-life, and portrait. In addition to the two new classes, she also is now teaching one of the Studio's several classes for four 12-year olds, in its regular program.

Young People's Studio is located in the center of

LYNN SIBERSTANG

Woodstock, at 3 Tinker Street. For further information contact Mrs. Bruce Dorfman in Woodstock.

Vanderbeck - Frame Nuptials

Miss Jill Karen Vanderbeck, daughter of Earl W. Vanderbeck of 26 S. Partition Street, Saugerties, and the late Elsie G. Vanderbeck, became the bride of William John Frame Jr., New Cumberland, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Frame Sr., formerly of Saugerties, Sunday, Sept. 28 at United Methodist Church, Saugerties. The Rev. William H. Baudendistel officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs.

David Bright, organist, provided traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a white, street-length dress of crepe, styled with long sleeves. A shoulder-length silk illusion veil served as her headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Bethann Owens of Country Club Circle, Mt. Marion Park, was maid of honor in a pink crepe street-length dress with long sleeves.

She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Thomas Spier of Livingston Street, Saugerties, was best man.

A reception was held at Katsbaan Inn.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Service School of Practical Nursing. Her husband, an alumnus of Saugerties High School, is serving in the U.S. Army where he holds the rank of SP4.

When they return from their wedding trip to Canada, they will reside at New Cumberland, Pa. Where the bridegroom is stationed.

Guild of Organists Sponsoring Festival

Central Hudson Valley Chapter of the American Guild of Organists has started its 1969-70 season by joining with Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, in a Neighborhood Arts Festival.

The planned events include: a recital for harpsichord and oboe in the gymnasium at 8 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 17; an all-day exhibit of art by local people, along with continuing events such as films; puppet shows, some for adults, and entertainment groups, all to take place at the gymnasium Saturday, Oct. 18; an experimental worship service in the church 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 19 which will consist of music and spoken word, and will use contemporary approaches to worship.

Future events will include choir technique Workshop with Peter Bagley of State University College at New Paltz who will demonstrate with his outstanding Chamber Singers; a co-sponsored recital with Arthur Carkeek of University of Pennsylvania at Grace Church, Millbrook, January 18.

Also, a student recital in March; a spring Junior Choir Festival; a special performance of music for double

Cookbook Opens Door to Dining

The Great Restaurants Cookbook, U.S.A. now makes it possible for the average family to emulate the fine dining in America's top-rated restaurants at will — a privilege previously limited to higher income, metropolitan area families. Almost 300 specialties de la maison of restaurants famous for their food, their service, and their ambience have been convenience-adapted to afford this unusual opportunity.

Capsule descriptions of the restaurants and their locales provide an armchair tour of America's most exciting and fascinating cities. For the more peripatetic, a glossary of foreign menu terms helps make a visit to one of these superb establishments a more relaxed, uncomplicated adventure. In surroundings and decor these restaurants establish a mood. To aid the amateur or experienced home cook in creating her own moods, suggestions are given in the book's table setting section as well as in the distinctive photographic sets.

Great Restaurants Cookbook, U.S.A. is the result of months of cooperative exchange and testing on the part of Campbell Soup Company and the participating restaurants. All of the recipes in the tastefully illustrated (40 four-color photographs) new cookbook were adapted with the help and approval of 72 distinguished restaurateurs in 41 states. Simplification of the recipes was designed to make them easier and more economical in time and effort for the home cook to prepare. The key to simplification is the substitution of expertly seasoned condensed soups for stocks, complicated sauces, flavorings, aspics, etc.

Twenty-four different soups, Home Style Tomato Juice and "V-8" juice were used. The soups reduce the number of ingredients necessary to the preparation of the original recipes and remove some of the anxiety for the less experienced or busy homemakers. With this book, the door has been opened to broader enjoyment of elegant meals.

The recipes are representative of a wide spectrum of foreign and American ethnic roots. More than a dozen specialties each have their origins in six food-loving countries: the United States, France, Germany, Mexico, Spain, and Italy. Dishes from the Middle East and India, from China, Japan, Polynesia, Holland, Denmark, Britain, Hungary, and the Basque country add to the international flavor of this collection.

The Great Restaurants Cookbook, U.S.A. is available in hardcover at bookstores, softcover on newsstands.

Representative of the 260 recipes featured in this book is Veal Piccata Pavilion, adapted from the original as served by The Pavilion at the top level of Los Angeles' famed Music Center. Not with what ease the sauce is prepared when you use canned condensed chicken broth — a superbly seasoned stock which enhances the delicate flavor of veal.

VEAL PICCATA PAVILION
12 veal scaloppini, pounded thin
2 small zucchini squash, cut into 1/4-inch slices
Salt, pepper
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup flour
1/2 pound butter
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons sherry
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed chicken broth
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
Sprinkle veal and squash slices with salt and pepper. Dip veal and squash into eggs, then into flour. Melt part of the butter and saute veal until golden brown, 5 to 6 minutes. Add squash and saute on both sides, about 3 to 4 minutes. Add more butter as needed. Place veal on a platter; top each veal slice with 2 to 3 slices of zucchini. Keep warm. In a saucepan combine cornstarch and

Kingston Fall Festival Saturday

With the enthusiastic cooperation of groups and individuals, Kingston is preparing for its first annual Fall Festival Day on Saturday Oct. 11. Sponsored jointly by Friends of Historic Kingston and the Chamber of Commerce, the chief attraction will be nine private homes open to the public, ranging from Pre-Revolutionary stone houses to mid-twentieth century design. Tickets will be available at any of the homes open and also at the Old Dutch Church. Those who wish to include those of Mr. and Mrs. W. Anderson, Carl, 139 Green Street; Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Thayer, 43 Crown Street; Mr. and Mrs. John L. Weber, 28 Green Street; and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hazenbush, 77 Main Street. Nineteenth century homes are those of Mr. Herbert Cutler, 106 St. James Street; Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Moreley, 103 Albany Avenue; and Mr. and Mrs. George P. Vogel, 184 Albany Avenue. Representing the twentieth century will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert AbeLove, Wilkie Avenue and Ringtop Road; and Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Russell, 60 Ringtop Road. Flower arrangements in the homes and businesses to greet visitors are being provided by five garden clubs: The Laurel Garden Club, The Little Garden Club, The Hillside Garden Club, The Hillside Garden Club, and the Hillside Garden Club. Members of the Indians Drum Corps will aid in giving directions and information, among those assisting the committee at other historic buildings open to the public will be Mrs. Henry Mill, chairman of volunteers for the Old Dutch Church and Mrs. Harry Rigby Jr., chairman for volunteers at the DAR House. A special feature for junior high and high school students will be a showing of a film on the American Revolution at the Old Dutch Church Hall. Membership in Friends of Historic Kingston is open to all persons, both Kingston residents and those living elsewhere who are interested in this city of four centuries. Information may be obtained about membership from Mrs. Avery L. Smith. The proceeds from the admission for the open house will go toward the work of the organization which seeks not merely to save something old, but to use what generations have preserved for the future economic and cultural benefit of the city. Besides the attraction of its historic heritage, the Ulster County apple harvest and chrysanthemum displays will add color to the updown streets. For those tempted by the fruit, free apple recipes from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and procured by the Ulster County Home Extension Service will be distributed. All the residents of the city should take pride in making the city especially clean and attractive for the city's guests that day. Members of the committee working for several months to arrange for the Festival are Mrs. Allen L. Hanstein, Mrs. Robert MacKinnon, Miss Kathleen Heavey, D. William Daron, Edwin Ford, Len Kane, Roland Augustine, and David Rylance.

St. Louis Skywriter... A Rare Job

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — When paired to the Stearman, which can be read over a 150-mile "Hello U.S.A. Call Vanderbilt the weather is right, and there's no radio and an instrument area. Pierce has written the "200." The advertiser reported a job to be done. Maurice "Red" His hand is the windshield wiper. Pierce puts on his old er. The front seat contains a 40-gallon tank for the light oil that ever misspelling a word. Pierce climbs into the open cockpit, and guns his 1942 Stearman biplane to 8,000 feet. He's one of the few practicing skywriters left in the country. For 20 years he has been St. Louis' only sky artist. "But you can't make a living at it," said Pierce. "I do it because it's great fun." Part of the fun is zipping along in the rugged old silver plane, the kind he used as a Navy pilot instructor during World War II. Pierce works full time for a firm that sells and services sophisticated business planes. But flying them is "boring" compared to the excitement of skywriting. Right angle turns are tough on the pilot. Pierce said he used to black out briefly while making the turn on a seven. Now, at 56, he rounds it out a little. When he reaches 120 m.p.h. he lets the vapor out while counting to himself. "The object is to get it up fast so it hangs together. I like to look back and see them laying like ropes." A seven-letter word is about a mile high, six miles long and over New York City. It said, "It's the curiosity of watching the letters formed. There's not one person in 10 who can walk away from it. They want to see how the last part of the word is formed. It's fascinating." Skywriting is said to have originated in England in 1922 when John Clifton Savage came to the U.S. with the Daily Mail. The object spelled out "London Daily Mail" over the Epsom Down race course. On Oct. 22 of that year the first sky message was written in the sky. Pierce says no. "Somebody a fellow will say—'Hey, let's write it in the sky,' and it will come back strong."

The East Europeans Problem for Austria

VIENNA (UPI)—The flood of during the period from Jan. 1 East Europeans coming into Austria this year is posing a critical problem for this tiny country.

The government has issued urgent public and private pleas to Western nations to accept more of the refugees who are appearing in Vienna in record numbers.

Faced with what they call "disastrous packing of refugees" in camps and possible ill health, officials are making a more careful distinction between those who abandon their homes in the Communist bloc for political reasons and those who are looking for better economic conditions.

Not that Austria will turn back anyone who shows he would suffer for his political views were he sent back behind the Iron Curtain. As a signer of the 1949 Geneva Convention, the country is bound to serve as at least a temporary refuge for Eastern emigrants.

But it is faced with what the Interior Ministry calls the "worst" refugee situation in Vienna since the 1936 Hungarians uprising when more than 170,000 persons fled Hungary in the space of several months. Ministry figures show that Many who dissent leave the island or wind up in prison. Within this framework the government has built a growing economy with business, investment and confidence, the of their own.

The Community Chest and You

Mental Health Services

In Ulster County where does someone turn for information when a serious problem arises in the family and it seems outside skilled help is needed?

Maybe a child is continually depressed and aggressive to the point of not communicating with others at home or at school; perhaps an older person who has previously been hospitalized for an emotional illness, now after some years at home is becoming forgetful to an alarming degree. Where does an attorney call for information when a client wishes to apply for a driving license after a period of mental illness? Where does a person call in an emergency when someone is so emotionally ill and dangerous that they should be hospitalized immediately? Who does a physician or a social worker in New York City or Boston call when needing information concerning a patient coming to this area?

The answer is the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, an agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

This relatively small voluntary organization, located at 27 East O'Reilly Street, Kingston, is in a somewhat unattractive building next to the fire station is a unique mine of information.

The office is manned by one part-time executive worker, Diana Geiger. But reaching out in the community and providing many other kinds of services are the numerous volunteers—board and committee members—of the association.

One of the concerns is related to preventive work in elementary schools. The association has a board of directors, all of whom are members of the board of directors of the association, has been mainly in cooperation with the respective school administration, partly due to the special courses to give skilled use of volunteers and a school of teachers in the degree of coordination with other agencies, private, public and governmental, at many levels. The association and 14 other agencies are supported by Ulster County Community Chest. All this is done on a relative campaign now in progress. A small budget. The estimated fair share contribution for 1970 is $7,213 many wonders in services provided by the Mental Health Association, with the help of the other participating agencies.

Bank Displays Pike Mural

The lobby of the Kingston Savings Bank in 1962 will be opened to the public on Saturday, Oct. 11, so that visitors to the Stockade area during Fall Festival may see the river and overland, of Kingston. Some of the items illustrated are the Senate House, original early artifacts.

This was announced today by Clifford A. Henze, bank president, who added that no banking business will be transacted on that day. The lobby will be open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., coinciding with the hours during which stone house tours are being offered in the Fall Festival observance jointly sponsored by the Friends of Historic Kingston and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Full color postcard reproductions and printed leaflets describing the Pike mural will be available for distribution free of charge upon request to visitors.

'Self-Help' Here

A program of "self-help" for former mental patients is being held at the Old Dutch Church, Wall and Main Streets on Thursday evenings under the direction of Dr. Low, a Psychiatrist and Health Through Will Training.

Based on the book, "Mental Health Through Will Training," by Dr. Low, a Psychiatrist and Neurologist who established the first European to set foot on New Mexico soil was Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca, a Spaniard who was shipwrecked on the Gulf of Mexico in 1528 and traveled on foot for eight years through the American southwest.

Meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. at the church and are non-sectarian and free of charge. National headquarters of Recovery, Inc., are located at 166 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Spanish Accidents

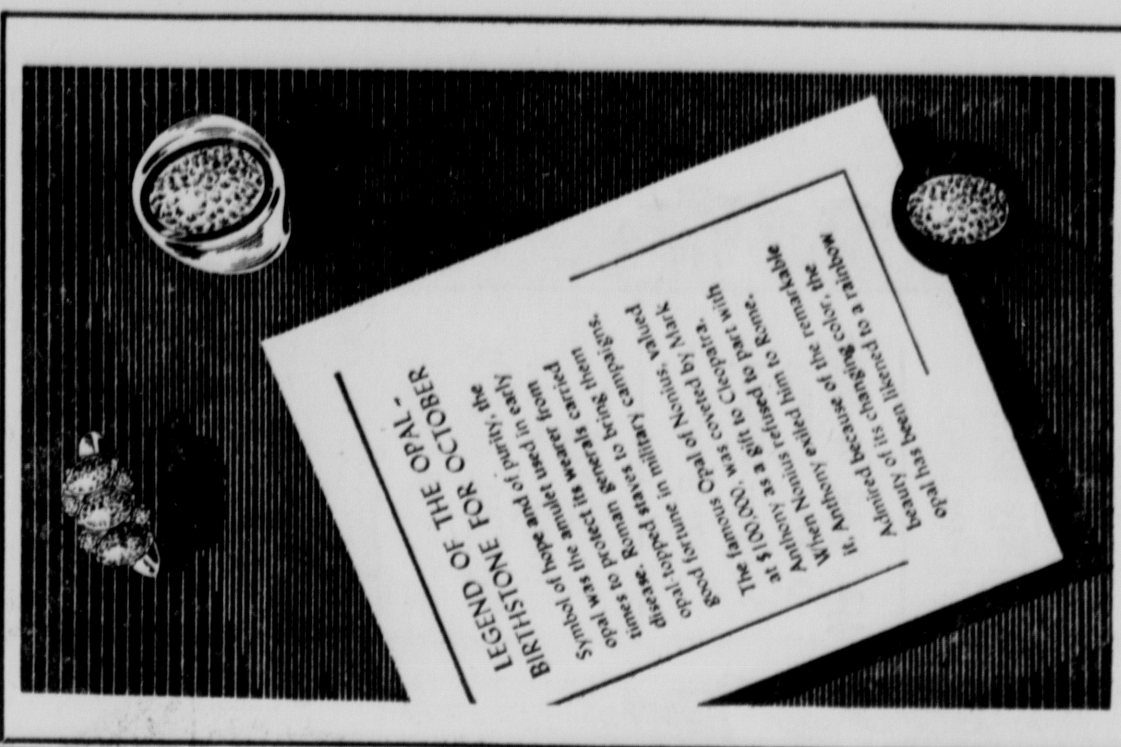

MADRID (UPI)—There were 77,494 auto accidents in Spain in 1968, according to the Spanish Traffic Center.

Bank Display

Elmer Carney (R) demonstrates early broom making machine as Clifford A. Henze, president of the Kingston Savings Bank, observes the operation. The little old broom maker is part of a display of household and farm tools of Colonial and early Federal days on exhibit at the bank, 273 Wall Street, in conjunction with the fall festival. The display, arranged through the cooperation of the Friends of Historic Kingston, was provided through Carney's courtesy.

The display will remain on view through Oct. 14. The bank will be open Saturday so that festival visitors may tour the exhibit.

British Troops Curious

General John Burgoyne sur- countryside, shed their uni- rendered his British Army to the forms, and became Americans. American, Horatio Gates, at Scores of Valley families can Saratoga on October 17th, 1777, trace their descent from de- scenders of the convention army.

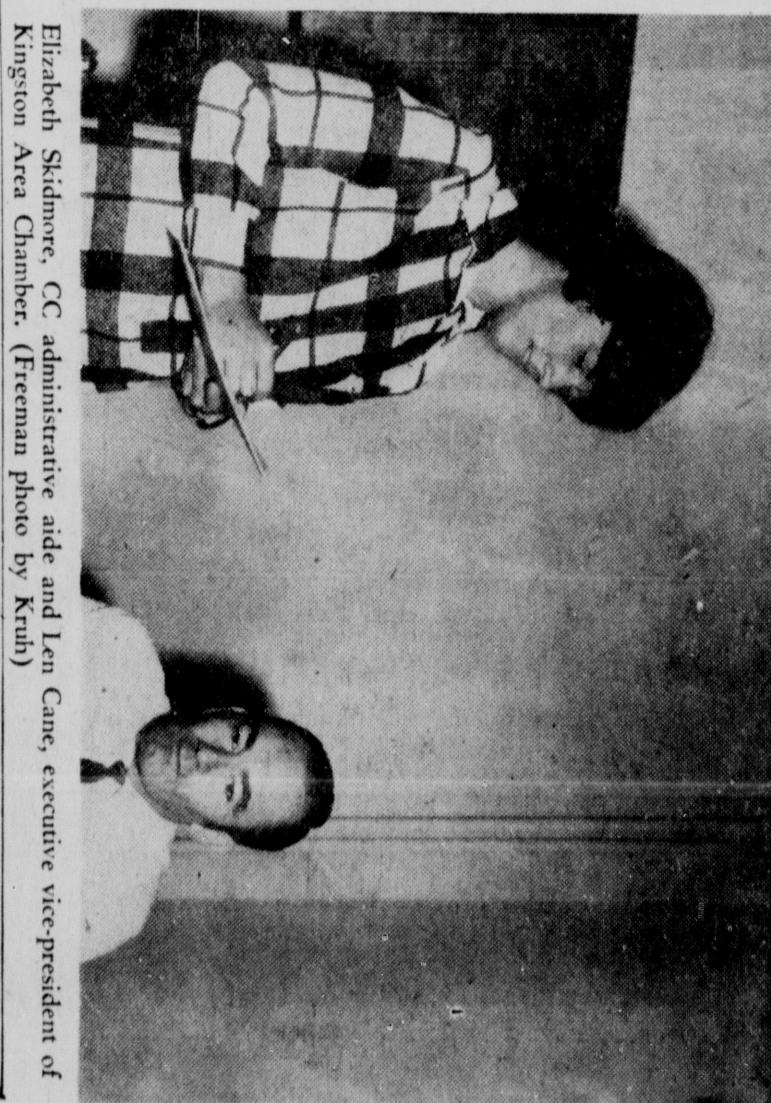

The advance up the Hudson A patriot German - American of a force under Major General John Vaughn and the burning induced many more to desert of the state capital at Kingston on the day before, thus placing British forces only fifteen miles north and less than fifty miles south of Albany, at which place most of the American Army to military stores were concern- tried, hastened General Gates to accept a convention rather than an outright surrender of the British. This convention war's end. On the march to Vir- called for them to Boston al gina, 623 miles, the army again turned for Europe under a prom- ised that none of the army would again fight in America.

The army was divided into three units, to facilitate billet- ing on the 215 mile march, one unit marching through northern Massachusetts, a second through central Massachusetts in the vicinity of Northampton, while the third group, consisting most- ly of the Hessian mercenaries, marched down the east bank of the Hudson to the village of Kinderhook, where they swung eastward through Great Bar- rington and Westfield.

The Hudson Valley folk's turned out in great curious num- bers to see the beaten British army pass through our area. Several of the British and Ger- man nobility were among the officers and these lords attrac- ted avid attention. One dear old Valley lady, upon having one of them pointed out to her, ex- claimed that the first lord she had ever expected to see was the Great Lord John Burgoyne, she was crying and before her term on earth was done!

The British were just as curi- ous to see their conquerors at first hand. The soldiers were im- pressed by the fine-looking American girls and one wrote of Kinderhook women, "they were slender and straight, fleshy without being stout . . . (had) pretty little feet, very solid hand and arms, a very white skin, and a healthy complexion, without having to paint. I have hardly seen one with pock- marks. They had white teeth, pretty lips, and animated eyes. Their manners were good."

Desertions along the march were very heavy. Many British and Germans slipped off into the

Taylor Hanged as Spy in Hurley

In retrospect, it had been an ill-starred venture from the very beginning. Ironically, though, there had been no thought but what it would be an easy and pleasant jaunt through the autumn woodlands—and it was undoubtedly this feeling that had drawn young Daniel Taylor off guard and had led to the incredibly stupid blunder of four days in the forest.

Taylor had plenty of untimely mistakes on the 14th day of October in 1777, for he was closely confined in the loft of a snug little stone house that a quick but thorough inspection had proved to be quite escape-proof.

This was the first moment in his life that Taylor was brought face-to-face with the fact that a man's life span could be a serious struggle leading only to quick tragedy. Prior to the encounter at Little Britain, life had been but a glorious lark, a fitting from flower to flower to drink of the soothing nectar.

Gazetted to the Ninth Regiment of Foot as a first lieutenant, young Taylor had sailed from Ireland, from the port of Cork, in April of 1776. This little expedition to quickly and firmly subdue George III's rebellious American subjects had promised adventure and much military glory with no risks. The Ninth was destined for Canada and was to be the command of General James Burgoyne but Taylor had been detached temporarily to the command of Sir Henry Clinton in occupied New York City. This had overjoyed Taylor for the wealth, the culture, the frenzied social activities in New York far surpassed the crudities and hardships of the Canadian wilderness.

There were, of course, a few pang of nostalgia when Taylor heard that his comrades-in-arms were moving as part of a great army down Lake Champlain to take Albany. For the last month or so, they had been stalled by temporary resistance in an area that these blasted colonialists called Saratoga.

Therefore, Taylor jumped at the chance when offered the mission to take a message from Sir Henry to Burgoyne notifying the latter that General Sir John Vaughan was moving upriver in a large fleet of sail to create a diversion releasing pressure on Burgoyne. There was no resistance expected except perhaps momentarily at West Point. Taylor's only worry was that the fleet would reach Albany before he did!

Spurning disguise and clothed in his scarlet regimentals, Taylor was given the despatch. As a precaution which, really, no one thought necessary, it was written on thin paper and enclosed in a little silver ball which unscrewed by threads across its fat little equator. If he was stopped by rebels, Taylor was to swallow the ball until he could talk his way out of detention.

At Little Britain, just southwest of Newburgh in Orange County, Taylor ran into a picket guard uniformed in the scarlet of His Majesty's Regulars. They, of course, arrested him. Taylor felt this was just a formality which any conscientious noncommissioned officer would take. He asked the sergeant in charge of their commanding officer and was told that it was General Clinton. "Ah! so Sir Henry's troops had beaten him up the river, thus far at least! He asked to be taken to the commanding officer at once so that he would be promptly released.

Taylor was promptly taken to the commanding general—and here the roof fell in on the hapless Lieutenant! Instead of Sir Henry Clinton, he was taken before General George Clinton—the rebel so styled General—and he found out too late that the pickets had been clothed in

Her Life Like An Open Book

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Patricia Noot LaHatte, the second woman ever elected president of the International Newspaper Promotion Association, is a bit tired of being asked how it feels to be a woman in a man's world.

The trim, self-assured brunette, whose newspaper background sparkles with accomplishments, says she is reminded of the time in zoology class when it was her task to cut up a frog.

That lone frog, once floating around in formaldehyde, now epitomizes to me the great of any one creature whose prey has been so exploited and held up, to the light to view in pieces for all to see—particularly those still with a high school intellect and attitude toward life.

Mrs. LaHatte, who rose from art editor to picture editor of the Atlanta Journal, is also the first woman in the nearly 100-year history of the Journal and Atlanta Constitution to be named promotion manager.

She has held that post 15 years. Among her many honors is being named Woman of the Year in Business in Atlanta.

What is newspaper promotion?

Mrs. LaHatte says: "What it is, in essence, is an advertising agency charged with telling the newspaper's role to the community."

Newspapers, she says, "are a quasi-public utility. They are a part of everyone's world. We're ushered into the world with our birth announcement and out of it with our death announcement."

And in between, she added impulsively, "your accomplishments—your triumphs—are 'read'."

That Inevitable Query
"Even though you are tired of the position, Mrs. LaHatte, how does it feel to be a woman in a man's world?"

"What you have to do," she said, leaning against the massive grey stone fireplace in her country chalet, "is to be careful not to assault the male ego."

"I'd never want to run Mrs. LaHatte school for girls," she added.

"Sure, there are hindrances to being a woman in a man's field. But these can be turned into advantages. I have strong-minded men in my department who can steer me right when I get into the area where I need a male viewpoint."

"The very fact that you don't want to be one of the fellows makes key people seek you out and listen to you," she added. "Mrs. LaHatte, when we've heard her pulled into a bun, pulled in her usual direct, forthright manner."

"If I were a man, I probably would have gotten my block knocked off literally because I meet most situations head-on. And by the same token, I would have knocked a few heads myself."

Her boss, Jack Tarver, who publishes both the Journal and Constitution, said of Pat on one occasion, "If she were a man, she'd have my job."

Mrs. Doris Lockerman, who co-authored "Discover Atlanta," a book which came out this August, says of her close friend, "She could survive a ship wreck, swim to the nearest island, ... wrestle a bear, ... and outlive a slug, madly, pictures in the newspaper or in the city, and lead everyone in American never by memory. She would also set everyone busy with their moveable type in reverse to set up some sort of newspaper."

The 1777 Provincial Convention

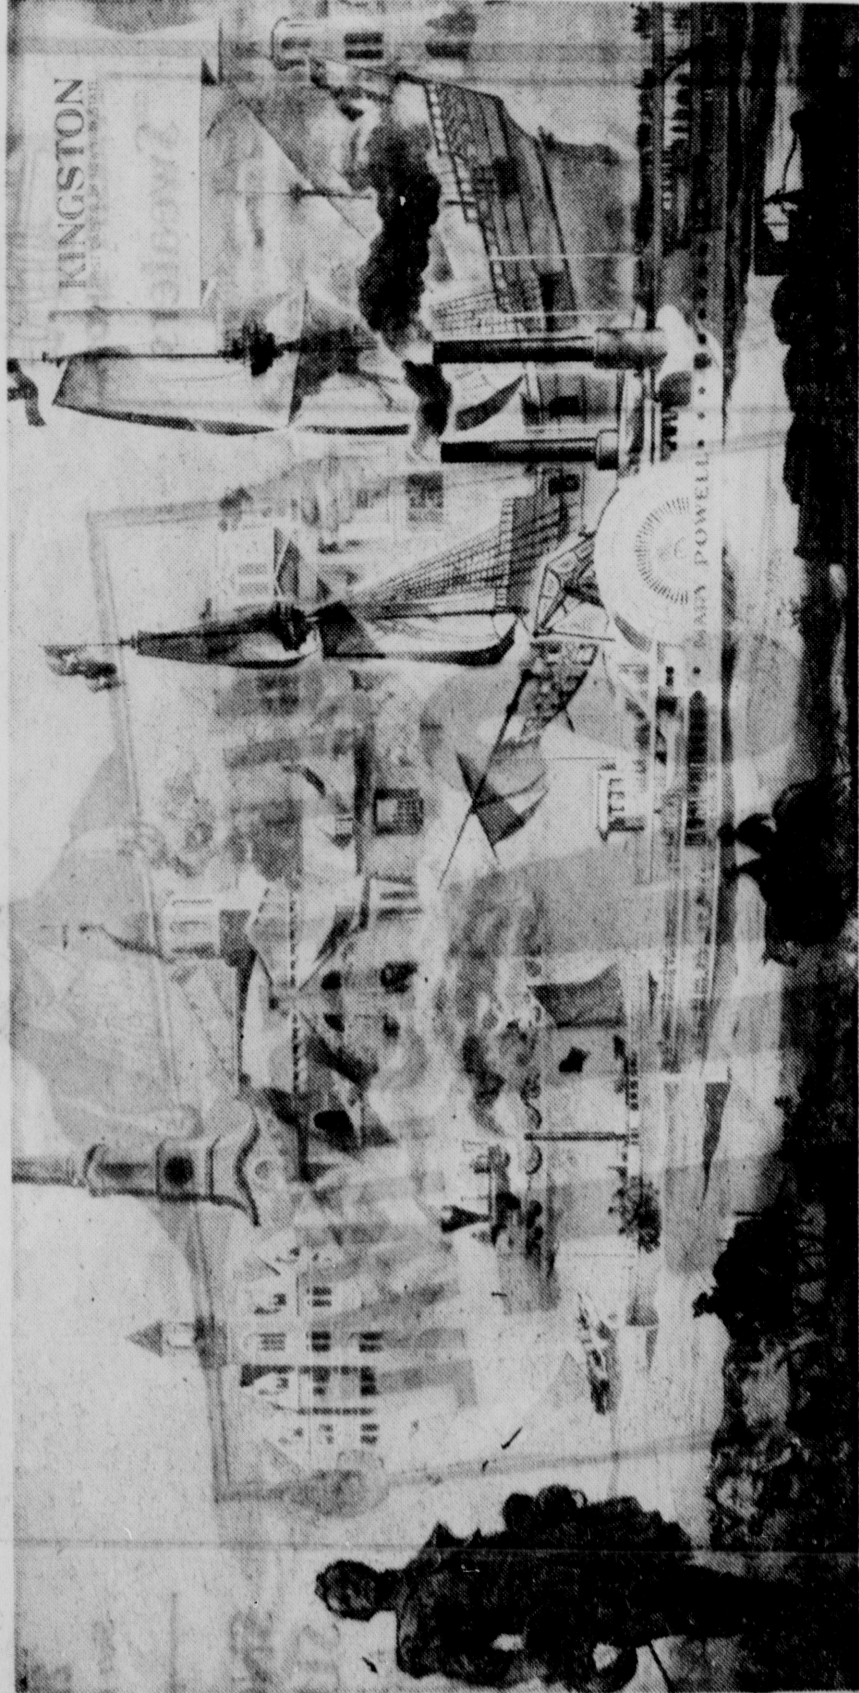

Government Foundation

The Provincial Convention convened at the Court House on 8th March, this year of 1777, for the purpose of preparing a Bill of rights and privileges for the good people of this State," as directed in August of last year at Fishkill.

A committee composed of Messrs. Jay, Hobart, William Smith, Duer, Morris, R. R. Livingston, Broome, Sedgwick, and John Yates, Wisner Sr., Samuel Yates have labored prodigiously for the past few weeks to prepare a Bill of rights and privileges for the good people of this State, and within the past few days have finished the bill of rights and privileges which they have presented to the Convention.

The Convention, after a long and arduous session, has adopted the bill of rights and privileges which they have presented to the Convention, and has ordered that the same be printed and distributed to the people of this State.

Opinion Survey ... Deep Interest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At a time when only a small part gets in the news, a recent national meeting of news executives and advertising executives in New York, deep interest was evident in a recent opinion poll showing many people are less than fully convinced of the accuracy of Washington news stories.

The survey was conducted by the opinion analyst Louis Harris for Time Inc. One of the basic findings in the Harris survey was that nearly three out of four college-educated persons contacted believed the real story in Washington "is behind what it is untrue."

3rd Decade On Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — American aid has all but stopped, after pouring a billion dollars into the island's economy. Chiang Kai-shek's government, which has ruled the island since 1949, is now being overtaken by the mainlanders who have taken control of the island's economy. The face of this island has changed greatly since the Nationalists retreated here in 1949. The Nationalists, under the onslaught of Mao Tse-tung's Communist legions, have been driven from a small administrative capital to a sprawling industrial and commercial center of 1½ million, with broad avenues subject to traffic jams.
